OF

FLOWSHEET

"And God reached out and
took the light in His hand.
And He rolled the light around
In His hand until He made the sun
And He sat that sun ablazing in the heavens."

— Johnson

The sun has come, I know,
For yesterday I stood
Beside it in the wood—
But O how pale, how softly did it glow.
I stooped to warm my hands
Before its rain - washed gold;
But it was pebble - cold,
Startled to find myself in these dark lands.

—W. J. Turner

Texas Western College

My Fellow Collegians:

I have tried to give you what I believe should be contained in a "Yearbook". I feel that a College this size needs a book that depicts (or tries to) the entire school year's activities. This is why I chose a September delivery date.

As you look through these pages in the years to come, I hope that you will be able to recall the associations, ambitions, dreams and hopes that were yours in 1965.

Sincerely,

Nelson Sanders, Jr.

Editor

Taking great pride in their work, Texas Western's Art Department fosters the originality and creativity of its art students. The function of the Department of Art is that of offering courses which provide thorough and careful training in the fundamentals and the techniques of the basic arts: painting, drawing, sculpture, jewelry making and silversmithing, ceramics, and graphics. For the art major interested in the commercial design field which entails advertising and interior decorating, the Art Department makes available these special courses. Moreover, for the students whose future goal is set on the teaching field, art education classes which deal with processes of teaching art at the elementary and high school level are provided. In addition, realizing the importance and high esteem held by industry and private practice for the graduate art student, the Art Department offers a research course directly oriented to the professional art student. This course is especially designed to permit him to select and explore in an intensive manner an approved art area with the guidance of a member of the staff.

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCE

Since its conception, the Biological Science Department of Texas Western has offered professional training of the highest quality. Evidence of its growing expansion is the addition from last year of six experienced teachers in the field. Although a large number of students of the department are majoring in pre-med and pre-dentistry, an integral portion have chosen the science field in relation to the pursuance of a liberal arts degree. The department in turn, as a main branch of the college, places great emphasis on giving the undergraduate a sound foundation in his endeavors in the fields of Biology, Micro-biology, Botany, and Zoology—in addition to developing in students a record of outstanding scholarship.

Since its founding, the Department of Business Administration has kept pace with the great strides of industrial society. The primary function of the department is to provide instruction in the fields of Secretarial Studies, Marketing, Management, Foreign Trade, Finance, Economics, and Accounting, which may or may not lead to the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Business Administration or to the Bachelor of Business Administration degree. With emphasis on the vocation in the business field, the department prides itself in procuring for the student an excellent reception and acceptance in his field. It accomplishes this task, not only by curriculum improvements, but also by gaining publicity for the department through its faculty's presentation of papers, and attendance at national meetings and conferences. In addition to classroom dissertation, instruction in the use of complex machinery such as IBM computers has been proven as good preparation for the student in facing modern commercial conditions in business and industry. In gaining recognition and a reputation for its graduates, the department is held in high esteem.

CHEMISTRY

The four year curriculum of the department of Chemistry provides a well balanced program of practical laboratory skills and co-requisite study. The department not only offers programs leading to the Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Arts degree in Chemistry, but it also makes available elementary courses in the field that are deemed necessary to the modern and dedicated student, the department provides advanced technical education, with almost unlimited possibilities for research. For the beginning student, the department offers basic courses to aid in the pursuance of his objectives and later in his scholastic endeavors advanced courses in qualitative and quantitative analysis have been provided. Actually the chemistry department has a very broad curriculum, extending from biology and medicine on the one hand to theoretical physics on the other. With such a background in this field, numerous career possibilities are offered to the graduating chemist.

"Speak the speech, I pray you, as I pronounced it to you, trippingly on the tongue: but if you mouth it, as many of your players do, I had as lief the town-crier spoke my lines. Nor do not saw the air too much with your hand, thus; but use all gently: for in the very torrent, tempest, and, as I may say, the whirlwind of passion, you must acquire and beget a temperance that may give it smoothness."

It has been said "the ability to express yourself in a meaningful manner is of primary importance in our ever-competing society." Holding this observation to mind, the department of Drama and Speech has strived with success to contribute meaningfully to the education of our students whose fields are in the theatrical and speaking media. The degree of Bachelor of Arts is offered by this department.

SPEECH

The Department of Economics, newly formed as a separate entity from the Business Administration Department, is closely related in its objectives and functions to that Department.

The Department prepares students for professional careers in business, government, teaching and research. Specialization is possible in areas of public policy, public international economics, Latin-American economics, economic theory and economic history.

Students are encouraged to consider a generalized program rather than to specialize narrowly; career objectives rather than immediate objectives are stressed.

The department of Education endeavors to supply today's demands for highly qualified teachers. There is great opportunity afforded from the levels of undergraduate courses pertaining to elementary and secondary education, to the special education of exceptional or mentally retarded children, and to the graduate student with whom is stressed the branch of training counselor leading to the Master of Education degree. Realizing actual courses in the methods and intricacies of teaching are an integral part of the field, the department requires a substantial relation of the courses taken by the student to be solely educational in nature. Such courses give understanding and insight in regard to how students grow and mature, in the procedures of evaluating students, and how students learn. Moreover, the area of one's specialization is emphasized by considerable work and study. This combination of educational development along with specialization in two fields of proposed vocation culminates in first a test of your abilities in a semester of student teaching at the level you have chosen and finally in the awarding of a Bachelor of Education degree. With such a preparation in the rapidly expanding and unlimited occupation of teaching, it is no wonder the department of Education has the highest number of majors on the Campus of Texas Western.

Both broad and specialized programs in the engineering sciences are offered through the several curricula of the School of Engineering. These programs are designed to develop the student's abilities to enable him to enter into and advance with the profession of engineering, and to lead a useful and happy life in his community. In order to qualify for a Bachelor of Science degree in the student's chosen field, he must complete four years of comprehensive study in mathematics and sciences. Various four-year curricula are available in the Department of Engineering in the fields of Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, and Drawing.

The Department of English is interested in aiding both the students whose major lies in this field and those to whom English is an integral part of another field. For the freshman the art of speaking and writing well is taught, demanding from him analytical thinking, logical organization of ideas, and expression of these ideas in precise language. For the English major, the department has fostered an interesting curriculum of English and American literature, including the analysis of literary works. The department recognizes the importance and validity that English will have upon the TWC student in broadening his scope of awareness of the human assets which enrich life and the mind.

Life seems to be full of crucial issues that split people into opposing camps and produce vigorous conflicts. In the settlement of these issues, one way or another, government seems to get deeply involved. Our Department of Government supplies factual information about the structure and procedures of American government essential to an informed and intelligent student. Both introductory and advance courses are offered, investigating problems in organization, function, powers, purposes and political governments of the United States and of the world. The ever-growing department has initiated the usage of TV courses which supplement the standard lecture. This department has as its objective—"to give the whole student group those civic skills and humane ideals, prerequisite for responsible participation in the political and social life of a democracy."

With the belief that a well kept physical state is fundamental for a productive mind, the department of Health and Physical Education has organized a program of both lecture and practical exercises for the student. For men, participation in this field of endeavor produces gratification in the knowledge their physical health leaves no discrepancies. Their courses, which are designed to provide vigorous, aggressive, and strenuous activities, will be of lasting value. For women students, such courses provide mentally and physically stimulating experiences, in addition to poise, grace, and vigor. Offering the degree of Bachelor of Arts the department sets as its goals the education of the individuals through physical activities.

HISTORY

The objective of the Department of History deals with giving the student a broad background of man's evolution from a historical viewpoint. The department, in attainment of these goals seeks more than to present a mere random collection of human experiences, but also to do justice to the complexity and variety of man's activities during the centuries. The student has the opportunity to survey civilization from the past to the present including the major political, social and cultural trends of the past and present and their bearing on the world situation of today.

JOURNALISM — RADIO-T.V.

The Department of Journalism and Radio-T.V. is organized on a professional basis, with the aim of providing for the student a broad background in these fields. They recognize that the availability and demand for majors in such areas of the newspaper world or television broadcasting is highly competitive. With this in mind the students are introduced and continue learning under realistic training; The Prospector, the college newspaper, The Flowsheet, the college newspaper, and El Burro, the college magazine are all student controlled.

The Department of Military Science has set as its goals the production of commissioned officers in the United States Army. Through an interesting and well rounded curriculum, the cadet passes through the stages of a basic course cadet and an advanced course cadet. Acceptance to the advanced course is competitive, but the goals are rewarding. Besides the monetary allotments, doubled this year, the cadet through exercising his leadership ability and military know-how may qualify for a regular army commission in the branch of his choice upon the completion of this four year course.

MATH and PHYSICS

The Department of Math and Physics provides thorough and careful training in the concepts and techniques of mathematics and physics. In observation of the extremely rapid growth of knowledge in scientific and technical areas during the past few years, the department has included various modern facilities for teaching. The department has two major goals: to offer courses in pursuance of the bachelor's degree with sufficient preparation for graduate work, and to make available courses necessary for public school teacher certification. Evidence of the rapid expansion of this field, which has existed since Texas Western's conception in 1913, is the addition of some fourteen instructors to the staff.

The Department of Modern Languages provides the student at Texas Western College with the medium of a foreign language as a tool for learning and cultural enrichment. French, German, Spanish and Russian are offered by this department. The emphasis and goal of the department lies in producing in the student such a degree of knowledge of the language as to augment easily its practical usage. The instructors are well versed in their fields and the facilities quite modern: for example this year the usage of tape recorded situations as recorded in the particular language one is studying have been utilized with a high degree of success. In such a vastly internationally oriented world as ours, and, moreover with the proximity of a foreign country just across a border, the students of language take pride in realization of the validity and importance of their language study efforts.

The Department of Music has a curricula designed to facilitate several objectives: the preparation of teachers in this field, music as a profession, and a vocational interest. A sound foundation in music theory, literature, and education is held as the chief aim of this department. Applied music is also part of their program: Band, Choir, Orchestra, Chorus, Lab Dance Band, a fully equipped symphony orchestra, a concert and marching band, a laboratory band, small chamber groups and two larger choirs. Study and public performance are intricate parts of the life of the music major, such as the accompaniment to our varied production of school plays and operas.

PHILOSOPHY — PSYCHOLOGY

In the Department of Philosophy and Psychology problems of matter, life, mind, truth and value are examined to enable students to gain a more thorough understanding of the problem of human behavior. The behavior of man, a search for truth through logical reasoning rather than factual observation, man's external and internal relationships, the various phases of human development surmise the main curricula offered by this department.

The Department of Sociology, wishing to convey to its students an appreciation of the ways in which individuals, groups and nations have related themselves to each other in the past as well as in the present, specializes in man's relation to man—human relationships, a subject of universal interest. Moreover, in order to give students of Texas Western familiarity with an understanding of man's behavior to his fellow man, the department investigates and analyzes political, economic, religious, educational, and family systems of the human race through the media of specialized and well-formulated techniques.

"IN PONDERING THINGS PAST"

I am a freshman, going on sophomore. I remember September. I remember registration, gag. I remember the beanies. I remember selling mine to a colorblind Brownie. I remember the day we white-washed the "M". I remember not knowing if it was for Mandingo or Mickey Mouse. I remember my shorts were ruined. I remember that it was a rough day since I started with long pants. I remember the "Bean Feed." I remember I remembered it late into the next afternoon. I remember my first class. I remember my first test. I remember they seemed to occur on the same day. I remember pledging . . . and depledging. I remember meeting "her". I remember re-pledging. I remember the SUB. I remember my peptic ulcer. I remember ROTC. I remember my oversized uniform and undersized platoon leader. I remember passing that semester, me, the scourge of the probation lists. I remember how I thought I would be this day. Confused. I was right.

I am a sophomore, going on junior. I remember September, a hard month to disregard. I remember how young and innocent the freshmen looked . . . so very wet behind the high school. I remember preparing for registration this time and hacking my path through a wall of human flesh. Gag! I remember checking-out the senior girls. I remember their chuckles and guffaws. I then remember checking-out the freshman girls . . . same reaction, different reason. I remember picking my profs at the advice of my friends. I remember hurling rocks at the sneaky liars. I remember the pledges. I remember how great it was to be an active instead of an activity. I remember boosting the Miners in hopes they'd start manning their boosters. I remember studying late into each night like a modern-day Lincoln by the light of my Zippo on Scenic Drive. I remember how happy I was to pass that semester . . . and seeing that semester pass. I remember how I thought I would be this day. Wiser. I was getting close.

I am a junior, going on senior. I remember looking on the freshmen and sophomores as social and scholastic lepers. I remember my connections in the registration line. I remember how I managed to get the right professors, but at the wrong time. I remember discovering that my "connective" friends were still liars. I remember becoming an officer in ROTC, an officer in my fraternity, and a committee chairman. I didn't have to remember never cracking a book, the new probation list was a graphic illustration. I remember how I managed to park in the wrong spot too often. I remember Chief Jones. It was his spot. "Look, Jane, see spot change." I remember being pinned. I remember the money spent on my pin. I remember the dates, I remember the money spent on the dates . . . was generally worth it. I remember the dances and Homecoming. I remember the mornings after. I remember the Bromo. I remember how my teeth felt soft and my hair hurt. I remember making pretty good grades that semester. I remember how I thought I would be this day. Surprised. I was. I remembered wrong about those grades.

I am a senior, going on sheepskin. I remember those first three years . . . as seldom as possible. I remember how I had to make good grades this year. I remember how I became president of my fraternity, how I shined at ROTC summer camp, how I became engaged. I remember forgetting about those grades again. I remember seeing the Dean. I remember we were almost on a first name basis with each other. I remember growing a beard that a man could be proud of. I remember that "she" had an allergy to hair. I remember buying a can of Foamy. I remember how pleasant it was to legally park on campus if I wished. I remember how silly it would have been to park an engagement ring. I remember cramming for finals. I remember crying quite a bit. I remember how neat my blue-books were . . . untouched by human hands. I remember how tough these four years have been. I remember Texas Western, that little bit of James Hilton in old El Paso . . . I wish I could stay for another four years and remember them, too. I don't think I'll have to wish too awfully hard.

CAMPUS LIFE

"To be very truthful, I'm sick to death of banquets . . ."

And then we find the "smilers" in kooks corner

REGISTRATION

"... I'm loyal, you're loyal, he's loyal . . . Is everybody loyal? . . . Just once I'd like to spot a commie . . . just once!!!"

"'Name' . . . Er, Ah . . . Happy Birthday dear Clara . . . Yes, Clara Cluts . . ."

"Yes, everything is closed . . . C-L-O-S-E-D . . . and that's the way The Tortilla topples."

"Let me see . . . 'Born' . . . yes, I suppose so . . ."

"... and these shots were from the first few hours."

Registration often gets to be a bit much for everyone . . .

"Get within ten feet of him, Bertha, and I'll pull every blond hair out by their black roots."

"Look out Juarez, the Tippling Trio is back in town . . . hic . . ."

"Sure, it's great to see you, but you've got to give up wrestling, Sappho honey."

and RUSH

Will the real Christine Jorgensen please stand up?

"The harder you clap, girls, the more he takes off."

Laura supervises the painting of the "M" en.

A prerequisite course has always been "advanced hog slopping."

"M" DAY

It's a shame to shampoo without Tame.

"Fellas, I've heard of working for peanuts . . . but beans?"

A soothing sip of domestic soda generally intensifies the desire to work.

"M" DAY FOR SOME

"Alright . . . what idiot taped the dynamite to the cow's udder?"

Some Girls can't even draw a straight line
... or handle a phony one.

She often pauses to pose

CLASSES FOR OTHERS

The TW campus abounds with a wide assortment of cans

Profs. frequently write their objectives on the board.

"And when he turns the ignition key . . . varoom . . . no more
Sat. classes:

"If you promise not tell anyone . . . it's a copy of a discarded cezenne."

"It's actually a hybrid style . . . a combination of "op", "pop" and 743 old toothpicks."

"I call it 'A Bloodshot Morning VIA Carta Blanca' "

"But you've got to make a choice. It's either Igor or me!"

ART and

'It could kill me . . . but, man, what a way to go.'

FAVORITE
ELECTIONS

"We like to think of it as being in memory of all students who looked and felt just this way around Finals."

Well, it certainly isn't the playmate of the month!

"But it's not a sit-in, sir . . . He claims he's from India."

"... So, I hacked a path through a wall of human flesh . . . dragging a canoe behind me . . ."

DRAMA

"Thay, fella, got a thigarette?"

"Even if Cuba does need maney, I will not do a yanqui shaving cream commercial."

As always, The Prospector scoops all news media.

"Is it loop one, purl one or the other way around?"

"PANTAGLEIZE"

Don't look now buddy, but somebody stole your ruby.

The Chief of Police makes an inspection tour.

HOMECOMING

"But I tell you Ethel, I feel something wet under me . . ."

"Whaddya mean, 'I got too much sun'?"

We wonder about the apparent increased interest in transvestism.

"I'll take three 8 x 10 glossies if they turn out, Craig."

"The Day of Homecoming always means smartly dressed co-eds . . . it also means Homecoming night . . ."

"So, we've come home . . . Then, what?"

HOMEcomings ANTICS

Later that day, the victory seeking Greek sisters of Venus were attacked by Victorious Romin' Boys

"Well, it's either a girl, or a very hairy boy with strange dressing habits . . ."

"Relax . . . it's only the annual attack of the horned engineers."

A smile means you're seeking acceptance—a stern face indicates you demand it.

"Some Exterior Designers just don't know when to call it quits . . ."

HOMECOMING

"Clara, you're sitting in the end zone."

"The camera slipped on this one . . . sure it did . . ."

The caravan to the Lobby started early.

"Stop shuddering Roger, it just looks like a military wedding."

Looks as if Ulcer-Avenue finally got to everyone.

"By golly coach, if you can make the line, I can walk it!"

"No it's not a reverse Lolita, I don't even know her . . ."

"Yes sir Mr. President . . . and later we're having a Texas Bar-B-Q in your honor . . . a local Republican."

Unique at TW is the flat-chested girl with bangs that just don't stop.

LBJ AND H<sub>2</sub>O VISIT AMIDST BOMB THREATS

"It may be an ominous sign Barry old boy, but 'he' is on the top right-hand corner of this page."

Bomb scares are becoming a TW tradition . . . Boom, boom, you all.

"I feel pretty, so damned pretty . . ."

In the dorm at night the girls generally let down their bleached tresses . . and faces.

"And after the awards . . . I will attempt to deliver a brief and totally unbelievable temperance lecture."

"Baritones, be baritones . . . this isn't The Vienna Boy's Choir."

HALLOWEEN BEAUTY CONTEST SING SONG

"Tell the one about the travelling Bracero . . ."

"Left, Right, Left, R . . ."

"If you think this is sexy, you ought to see my ankles."

"This outfit goes well with a hairy chest"

"Hand over my degree in Mining Engineering or else!"

"Yes, they're actually my own eyelashes."

"I'd like to smile for the judges but I don't have any teeth."

"Puff, the Magic Dragon, lives by the sea . . ."

BEAUTY

"Minuet anyone?"

"I'm gonna wash that man right outa my hair . . ."

"Get me to the church on time."

"What a cold nose you have, my dear."

Don't, Don't, Don't be a Litterbug.

"If paw had only told me about de birds and bees."

I didn't do it!

"Durned fast horse, I'd say . . ."

A SPLASH

The figure in the vest in the center isn't a star—just an extrovert Faculty member.

"Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte . . ."

"Houses? . . . Well, you go down Stanton about 4 blocks and turn right at the first light . . ."

"It only hurts when I lisp, Doc!"

OF BITTERS

Two lost souls on the Highway to Selma.

"O. K. Lou, just stop barfing on the 1st row, that's all."

Pete took over when Bob Merrill didn't show . . .

"But I thought I didn't believe in student-faculty fraternization."

"I tell you those Apaches really know how to hold a grudge,"

Max says "grace" over a typical dorm meal.

ART

BEAUTY CONTEST FINALS

"Smile Sarah, I think I see Alan Funt behind the potted palm"

"Always a bridesmaid—never a bride, my foot!"

"She's such a lovely person, but if she gets it I'll scratch her eyes out!"

You'd never guess he edited this "rag", would you?

Photographer catches Candy Cline flashing her Maclean's smile.

"Did Katy Winters ever tell you about the new secret?"

SPORTS?

"Feet together, back straight, elbow locked, wrist bent,—and push!"

"Next time I'd better use medium starch"

"Let's see if they can block this shot"

Looks, talent, money—how could she help it, fellas?

Why aren't they ever

TEXAS WESTERN CIVIC BALLET

1960 - 1965

Almost five years have passed since the Texas Western Civic Ballet made its debut on January 17, 1960. These have been an encouraging five years, a period during which the joint college-community venture has proven itself worthy of taking a major role in the cultural life of the Southwest. Together with the El Paso Symphony and the College Community Opera the Texas Western Civic Ballet has become part-parcel of the community expansion and become an important stimulus toward attracting new industries who are linking industrial growth with cultural growth. Having gained nation-wide editorial recognition, the Texas Western Civic Ballet has taken part in the great burgeoning of the regional companies all over America; it, too, served to create demand for higher standards of the professional touring companies who for years subjected communities to poor fare, often shoddily danced and sketchily accompanied. All of this remarkable success was made possible through the generosity, the never ending enthusiasm, and the willingness to explore new frontiers of Texas Western College who offers all its facilities, faculty, theater and orchestra to the company. It was made possible through the highly endeavoring, cultural-minded citizens of El Paso who have patronized the Civic Ballet so generously and donated so much of their time and effort; through all the guest artists who have travelled so far to contribute their help and talent. And, most of all, through the dedicated young people who are rehearsing and performing not for any monetary gain but for the joy of disciplined endeavour and communication with an audience.

TROJAN WOMEN FINE PRODUCTION

Before a house of only 44 on opening night, the College Players presented The Trojan Women by Euripides, the Greek playwright.

This sequel to the Trojan War and the destruction of Troy by the Greeks is a difficult play for the modern actor to handle. There is always the tendency to rant and rave; the chorus demands constant alertness and is responsible for a continuity in the action.

From the opening scene to the Exodus of the bereaved of Troy, this presentation was a thoroughly al job. Under the direction of Larry Etheridge, the smoothly and with places.

The chorus, under the direction of Judy Weingarten and George, gave the necessary stancy to the play and establish a rapport between audience and the actors.

Unfortunately, the presentation of grief by the principal characters was a little too similar. Herod was too near Andromache's mad ravings, too like the composition of the chorus. There was a lack of individuality in the expression of grief.

In a play of this type, it is parently very difficult to maintain an elevation of principle. Andromache was very good in her part, and it was a point whether she really loved Hector or Astyanax.

The most noble (and is used with reservation) was that of Hecuba. Shoemaker consistently played an old woman in ruin with the sustaining of true nobleness.

Cassandra was portrayed the lines of Robinson's poem "Cassandra." The rantings of a mad, frustrated prophetess were exactly presented in a most astounding manner by Marsha MacEuen. At times her eyes attained a most maniacal expression completely in keeping with the part.

The outstanding feature of the entire performance was the establishment of great tension from the onset of action—a tension that was sustained from the beginning to the end of the play. Even the use of an intermission failed to lessen appreciably the dramatic quality of the play. This may be the greatest tribute to the actors and actresses.

The thing that moved me most was that I noticed great lines and recognized them as they were being given. In a play on the stage, the great or memorable lines are sometimes not recognized. "Priam, Priam you are dead and not a friend to bury you," which exactly expresses the Trojan grief, is delivered as one expects a great line to be

Prospector Staffer Miss TIPA

Barbara Ritter, Prospector business manager, was named Miss TIPA for 1965 at the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association convention.

Miss Ritter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Ritter of 61 La Cruz Drive.

Candidates were judged on talent in the field of journalism, personality and beauty.

The new Miss TIPA is a senior, has been Kappa Sigma sweetheart and was a finalist for Miss TWC.

Miss Ritter is attending Texas Western on a Harwood Foundation scholarship, and intends to teach journalism in either a college or junior college after obtaining a master's degree.

The Miss TIPA award was the only prize brought home. Texas Western entries in all categories of intercollegiate press competition had been disqualified because the entries were late. The TWC delegate learned this after they had been at the convention on the campus of Texas College of Arts and Industries in Kingville for two days.

Colored above, the Teddy the Senior night.

Charles "Chico" Woodul will replace Dr. Morton Leonard in the role of Leporello in the College-Community Opera's production of "Don Giovanni," due to the broken leg Dr. Leonard suffered in a skiing accident last month.

His injury brought about a complete rescheduling of performance dates. Opening night has been changed to Thursday at 8 p.m. Subsequent performances will be at 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with a matinee at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Mr. Woodul, a 1959 graduate of Texas Western, is currently working toward his MA at the University of Texas. He has been commuting from Austin on weekends to rehearse the role and open by Dr. Leonard's unfortunate accident.

Darlene Miller, a voice major in the Music Department, received minor injuries in a fall from unfinished scenery while rehearsing her role of Donna Elvira at Lulac Hall.

Sets for "Don Giovanni" have been created by Bill Gambrell, artistic designer of the new Festival Theater. Because of the rapidity of action, special stage devices are used for instant scene changes in full view of the spectator. There will be two stages with separate sets to support the variety and flexibility of the action.

The Music Department is busy in finding a replacement

PHRATERES

Phrateres International is a democratic, non-Greek, service organization. Sigma Phi chapter has several service projects, one being the adoption of a needy family for one year. At Thanksgiving and Christmas, the girls of Phrateres provide them with food, and at Easter, they buy the family clothes. Once a month, they buy the family's supply of milk. Another service project is helping out at the Youth Center, and the campus service is that of tying orange and white streamers on the cars before every football game. They also usher at various campus events. The Sigma Phi Chapter will host the eighteenth biennial convention of Phrateres International on the TWC campus.

STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate is the workhorse of student government. Out of it come up to 20 different committees during the year. These committees, under the direction of the Rules committee and the Student Association Vice-president, accomplish whatever work is necessary for the success of the many activities on the campus which fall under Student Association jurisdiction.

Membership in the Senate consists of either one or two representatives from each campus-recognized organization. Each organization, be it Greek or Independent, social or service, is allowed one representative if its membership falls below 25 and two if it has over 25 members. In addition, a maximum of ten unaffiliated students may be seated.

GREEKS

Delta Delta Delta, founded on the Texas Western campus in 1938, has at the present one of the largest sororities at TWC.

Their participation in campus activities can be seen through their numerous trophies. In the spring semester, the Tri-Delts took home a second place variety show win with their interpretation of Peter Pan. The 1964 Homecoming activities brought them the sweepstakes trophy. The lodge was covered in such a manner as to represent a chariot mounted by the Greek God of the Sun, Apollo, who was to protect the Sun Bowl from the invading Lobos.

KAPPA SIGMA

KAPPA SIGMA

The Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Sigma has been on the Texas Western campus since 1949. Kappa Sigma has won the intramural championship six times in the past 11 years. Participating in such sports as baseball, volleyball, handball, football, basketball, swimming, and track, Kappa Sigma is also aware of its civic responsibilities and has an annual Christmas party for the Southwestern Children's Home.

PHI KAPPA TAU

Phi Kappa Tau is the oldest national fraternity at Texas Western, founded here in 1941. Since that time the chapter has flourished to the point where the membership totals around seventy-five men and the physical facilities include a lodge, complete with outdoor barbecue and swimming pool.

Phi Tau is essentially a social brotherhood but does perform various services throughout the year. These include Christmas and Easter parties for various groups of orphans and participation in fund raising drives for different charities.

ΑΕΦ

Alpha Epsilon Phi was founded on October 19, 1909, at Barnard College. A relatively new sorority on the TWC campus, AE Phi was established here in the fall of 1961. There are 55 chapters throughout the country. The colors are green and white, the flower the Lily of the Valley, and the jewel the pearl. The national philanthropy is a scholarship program to aid deserving students. AE Phi's local civic service is adopting needy families at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter in order that these people may have as happy a time as more fortunate families.

Zeta Epsilon of Lambda Chi Alpha was founded at Texas Western College in 1946. Lambda Chi Alpha credits its brotherhood and scholastic achievement to outstanding men in all walks of life. Zeta Epsilon is also known at TWC for its civic service projects, such as lighting luminaries at Christmas time and annual parties for orphans and underprivileged children of El Paso. Lambda Chi uses the big brother system to mold pledges into well informed, educated leaders of society. The social aspect of Greek life is by no means overlooked at Zeta Epsilon. A variety of social events and "type parties" are stressed with the White Rose Ball forming the high point of the social calendar.

OMEGA

Alpha Phi Omega is the oldest fraternity on the Texas Western Campus. It was founded in 1919, when TWC was the Texas College of Mines. Since its inception, it has restricted membership requirements to second-semester freshmen and up who have maintained a two point grade average, but who must also be enrolled in some phase of engineering, mathematics, physics, geology, metallurgy, or mining programs. Of the many civic activities in which the APO's participate, the APO Milk Fund is most familiar to all TWC students.

A growing organization both nationally and locally, Tau Kappa Epsilon prides itself on selecting its men "Not for wealth, rank, or honor, but for personal worth and character." Teke was founded in 1899 at Illinois Wesleyan University and is now the largest fraternity in the world, with 200 chapters in the United States and Canada. The Tekes at Texas Western follow the national tradition of loyalty to the alma mater by stressing scholarship and school support, as well as a social program.

WALK TALL

He was a dreamer and a visionary, yet his practical mind joined the two great oceans of the world. He walked softly, but carried a big stick to show that he would defend the right. He was a kind and gentle father, yet he led one of the fiercest attacks in military history. He was a small man, yet he stood as a giant among the men of his time. He stood for the highest principles, for his country above all.

He was an American.

His name was Theodore Roosevelt, twenty-sixth President of the United States.

Walk tall, as he did, through your life. Walk with pride, as he did. Walk confidently into the future, as he did. When you do this you will have a part in building a greater America, as he did.

"And God reached out and
took the light in His hand.
And He rolled the light around
In His hand until He made the sun
And He sat that sun ablazing in the heavens."

— Johnson
