Texas Western College, formerly the Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy, has completed its first year of activity under its new name. The 1950 FLOWSHEET records that year.

Through these pages run a promise that the future of Texas Western is assured, and the pictures you see of the students, their activities, sports, their courses of study and the ways in which they enjoy themselves, will serve as a monument to memory when time has dimmed the strains of "Alma Mater."

During the past year the name and fame of our school has spread far. It has gained recognition through the efforts of its competitive sports teams, inter-fraternity correspondence, its capable professors, and its students who take an understandable pride in their college.

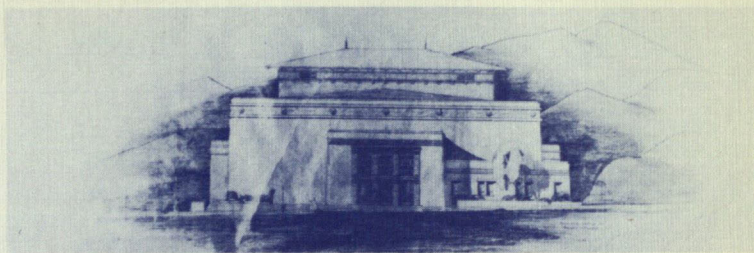

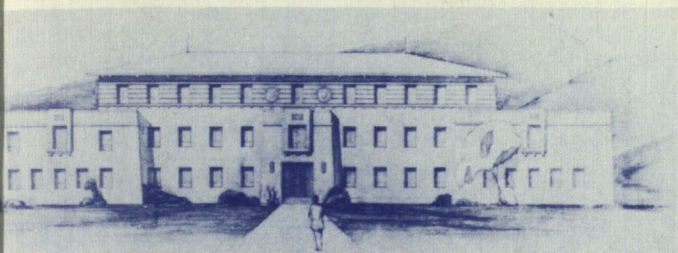

Texas Western is answering the call to take its place among the top engineering, arts and science colleges of the United States. It is growing, and this progression is noted with a feeling of pride by all who are part of this advance.

JUDSON WILLIAMS, director of publications

BRIDGE

To those individuals groups, past and present, who have made Texas Western what it is today and what it is to become—and to those who will help build the greater Texas Western of tomorrow, the 1950 FLOWSHEET is respectfully dedicated.

The past year, of which this book is a pictorial chronicle, has been a year of change for Texas Western. It has been the year of a new name, new buildings, new instructors, new students, and a new president.

The mid-point of a century of progress is also the turning-point of Texas Western—a college which is rapidly becoming one of the great educational institutions of the Southwest.

Although the trend is toward the future, nothing that has gone before will be forgotten. That is the purpose of this book—to help you remember and re-live this memorable year at T.W.

This book is dedicated to you the students, to a greater Texas Western, and to a highly successful future for both.

WILSON HOMER ELKINS, Ph. D.
President

President's Message

It is with pleasure that I add a few lines to the many which record the interests, activities, and achievements of the students and faculty during the year 1949-50. It is clearly evident that your accomplishments tell a story to which each of you has contributed and which will remain in the memorable annuals of this college.

The record stands for itself, but it cannot adequately reveal the amount of time and cooperative effort expended in the preparation of this beautifully illustrated book. May I extend personal thanks to the entire staff of the Flowsheet for a job well done for the benefit and enjoyment of all who are proud of Texas Western College.

ON CAMPUS

Administration Building
AND LIBRARY

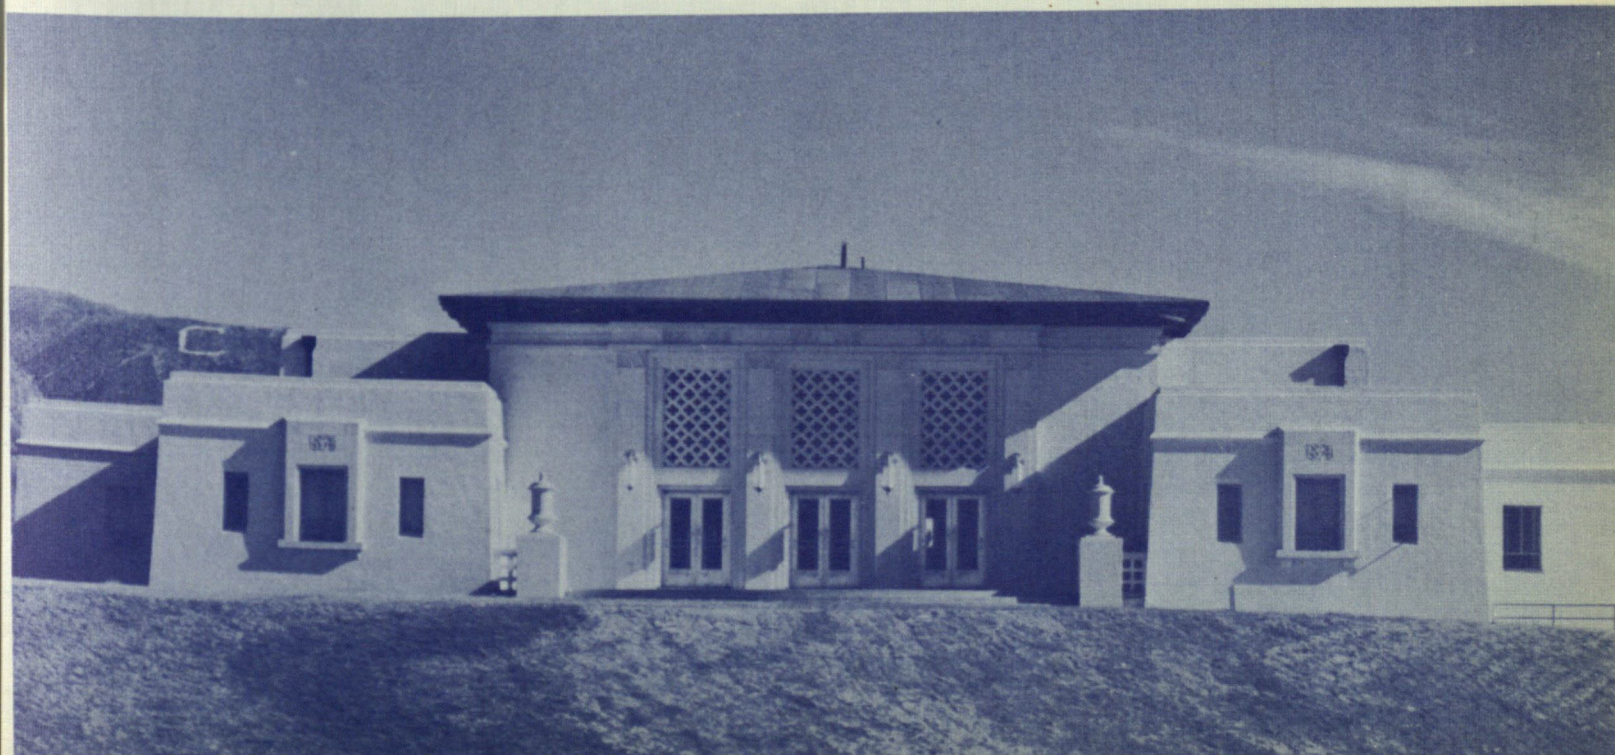

Centennial Museum

... Campus asset ... Realm of relics, recording the past—historical and ancient—in it a thousand items ... A place to take visitors on Sunday ... Source of sound for many things—choirs, vocalists ... and the click of an 1860 flint-lock ...

Student Union Building

... Campus Hub (spelled SUB) ... Coffee, doughnuts, and a long one in the corner pocket ... Supplies for sale ... Carousel of jukebox and table-hoppers ... Center of Student Life ... Publications hotbox ... Noise of grand slams, bid or not ... Study of classes—and campusology ...

Women's Dorm And Cafeteria

... Home for women away from home, haunt for men ... Bevy of Beauties—(how long does it take to say, "goodnight"?) ... Curtains at the windows, carpets on the floor ... A piano in the lobby ... Farewell kisses at the door ... A place for chow and conversation, and how to get acquainted in easy lessons ...

Benedict Hall

... Home for many, room to a few ... A flight of stairs and a porch out front for the wolf chorus ... TW's Little Hospital, serene and clean, good for colds, cuts, coughs, and pink pills ...

Burgess

...Overlooks the campus from a vantage point, where is taught education, biological sciences... Here, part of a nation's business and economic future is being spawned... with Languages on the side...

Main... The First... A practical structure... A thousand tons of rock-specimens... An old homey building with long lab tables, a blackboard full of math cryptographs... photo darkrooms... Office hours, nine 'til none...

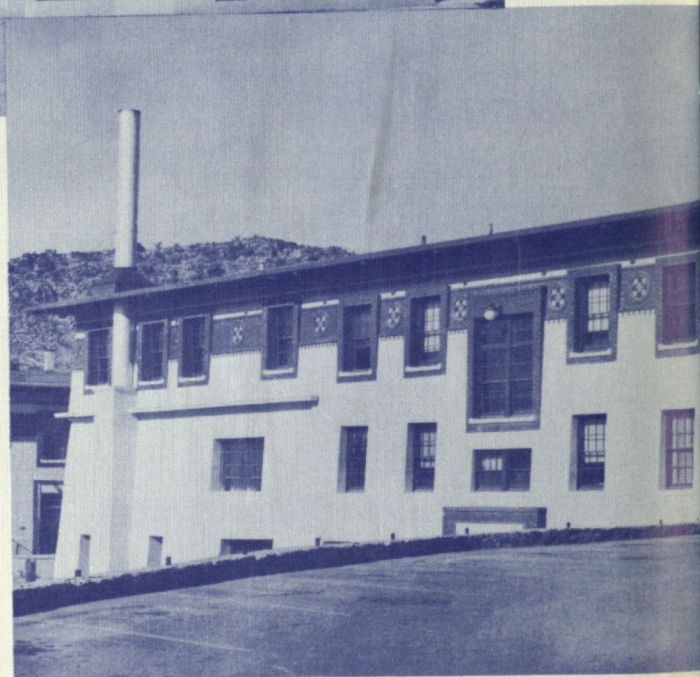

New Men's Dorm

... Newest home for men ... A long line waiting for the phone ... Dominoes in the lounge ... Study and other sessions ... Buckingham Palace for some, a hovel to others ... A collection of interests, types, faces, and geographical locations ...

Engineering

... Facelifting completed early in the year ... Cradle of the Power Plant ... Transportation maintenance ... Power drills and punch presses ... Class rooms for the Engineers who wield a mean slide-rule ...

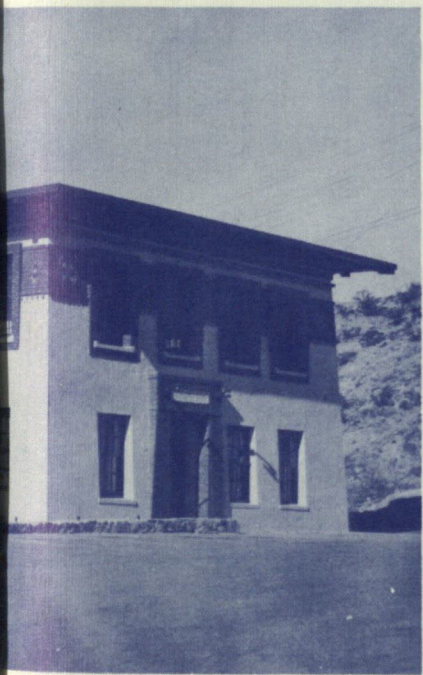

Kelly Hall

... "Old Kelly", still and stately ... Home of KVOF (go clear outside, around to the back and up the stairs) and the PROSPECTOR ... History, Math, English and Journalism (take your pick) ... Taught to the tune of the typewriter's click ...

Worrell Hall

. . . A nice place, if one likes noise . . .
Telephone ringing down the hall . . . No parking room in front, but a place to foot
a football, practice a putt, burn a baseball
. . . And afterwards, the midnight oil . . .

Stables

. . . A touch of the old West . . . "Hi-Ho, and Away" . . . Scent of saddles, horses, leather . . . Over the jumps with many bumps . . . Physical Education taken sitting down—sometimes . . .

Swimming Pool

... The "Ol' Swimmin' Hole" with a modern touch ... Cool social center in the summer ... High divers, low conversation, medium rare sun-tans ... Parade of beauties, a photographer's paradise ...

Kidd Field

... Resounding to the clash of strong young men in active sports ... The smell of perspiration, benzedrine, alcohol ... Echos of cheers and groans of disappointment — also, maybe, pain—Referees horns and whistles, and the gun report at game's end ... Arena for gladiators and an "El Pasoan Holiday"—Home of the Sun Bowl ...

Chemistry Lecture

... Den of Science ... Microscopes, test tubes, the paraphernalia of research ... Stretching lazy-like down the hill ... Massive lecture hall, the first stopover in registration rigmarole ...

Seamon

... Secluded Seamon ... A name of honor ... Last stronghold of the "hardrock" miners ... A rock mill ... and ore ... and a reminder of another time, another school, another name ...

EXTRA CURRICULAR

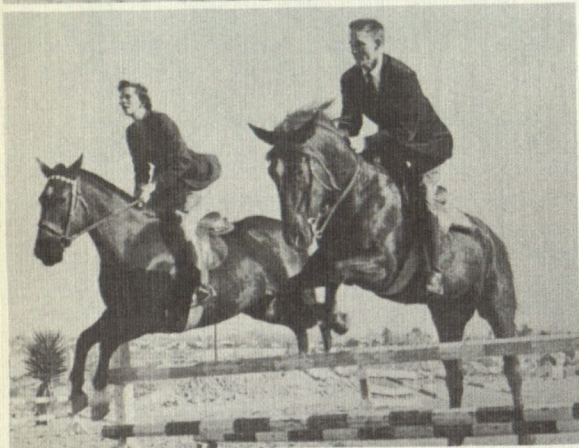

The candid camera was busy the whole year recording pictorially what transpired on campus, at Abilene on the football trip, at the dorms, etc. It knew no holidays, working weekdays and Sundays. It received the qualifying dab of white-wash when the "M" was painted, and watched Daisy Mae catch Lil' Abner.

Then there was Homecoming, new students, Vet's City, the Sun Bowl, and a numberless bevy of spring activities.

All these things the camera recorded that you might keep forever memories of a GREAT year.

One sunny day in month of May, 1946, a bunch of the girls got together and paraded around the campus in their swimming scanties . . . One of them was declared Miss TCM and All-Mines Day was born.

Since then All-Mines Day has become an annual custom on campus. From a meager beginning it has expanded to include, in addition to the original bathing beauty contest, a senior-faculty softball game, a gymkhana, swimming contests, intramural finals and trophy awards, a bean-feed, installation of the incoming Student Council, and an informal dance.

Also, some enterprising students take advantage of the festive air and design entertainment of their own, not all of which is sanctioned by the administration.

Of course, the school's name has affected the occasion's title, but all of the traditional activities are still on the schedule. The only difference is the fact that "TWC" has been inserted in place of "Mines."

Summer

Some of Texas Western's students are so diligent in their quest for academic enlightenment that they can't bear a three-month lay-off... and so summer school enrollment is high. The fact that there is swimming, riding, dancing under the stars, and picnics by the dozens has nothing to do with it. Summer school sessions last six weeks each, and students are allowed to carry only six hours during each of the two semesters.

Classes convened for the first time during last summer's sessions under the new title, "Texas Western College." The 'conservatists,' those who wanted to keep "TCM", had fought the good fight and lost. Another first was established when Laura Ann Tomkins was elected summer school queen. Scheduled activities under her reign included swim meets and several dances, some in the Student Union Building and others on the tennis courts . . . under soft summer skies.

Texas Western Homecoming, 1949, will exist as more than a name, and as more than a brief week end in the memories of those who participated in and witnessed the flurry of its activities.

Pride in the school, through Homecoming participation was evidenced by all groups, organizations, and individuals of the school, and by citizens of the community who could not fail to realize that this year's Homecoming was "... the full blown expression of school spirit at its best."

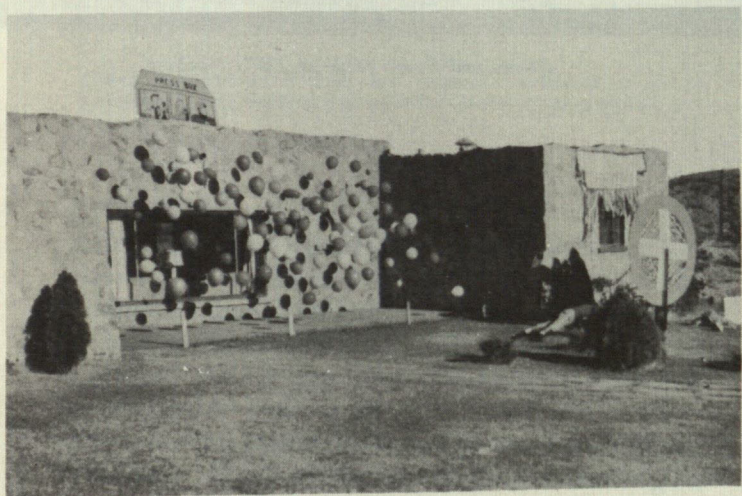

Ex Students started off with 'get-acquainted' banquet.

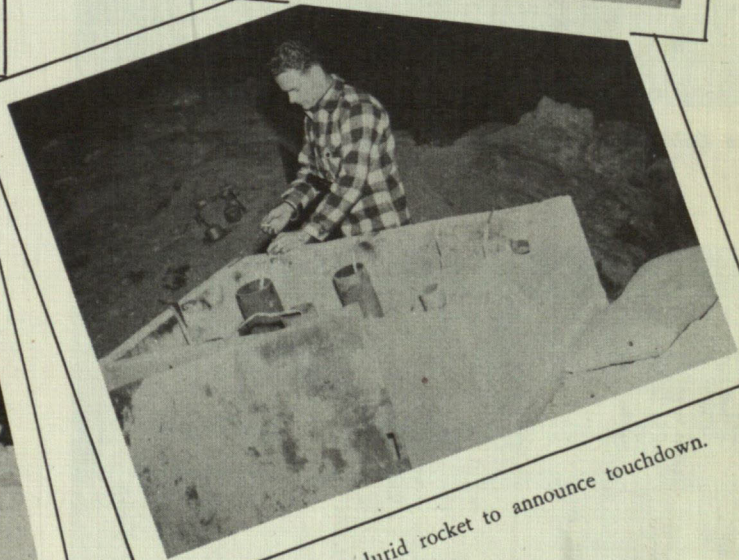

Chi Omega's and Duz did it, but football team didn't.

Light headed students filled Delta Gamma stadium.

Lefty lights' lurid rocket to announce touchdown.

... "and when you get there, watch that..."

Ex-students gathered again, some dubious of a new school name, but all eager to view the changes brought about by it. They visited familiar rendezvous became acquainted with each other all over again, had a banquet, and topped it off with a gay old time at the game and dance. Then they went back home amazed at the reception they had been given, amazed at the demonstration they had witnessed, amazed possibly at their own pride in a truly great school.

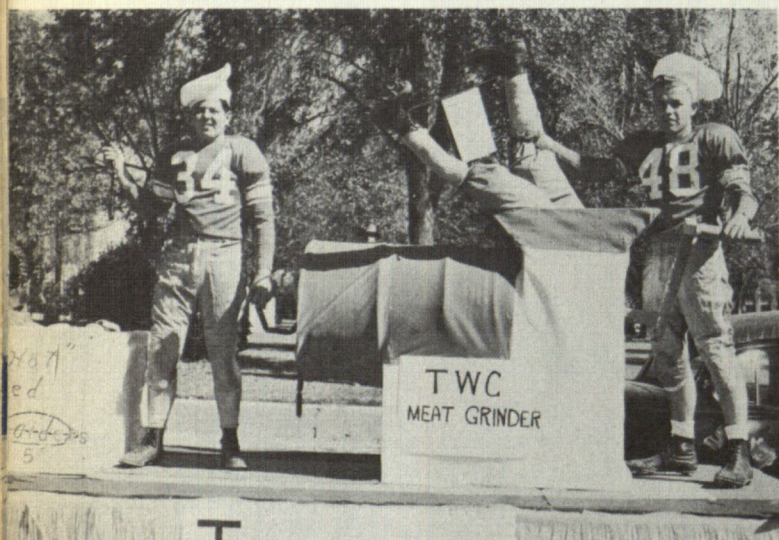

Homecoming

A football of flowers snared men's first prize.

Mu Delt visibly contributed more beauty to parade.

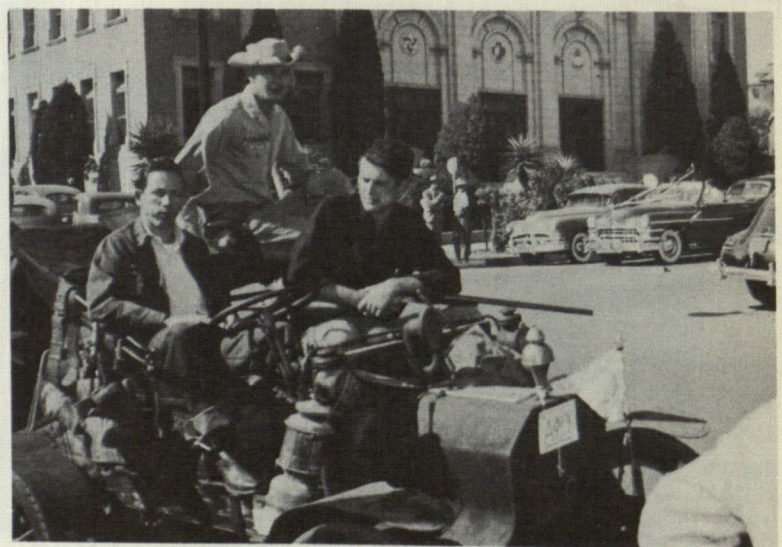

TEKES expressed vicious anticipation of game outcome.

Queen and Court featured TW's loveliest.

The Homecoming Parade itself was termed "overwhelming," "... a small Sun Carnival in itself." Sorority lodges came in for their share of enthusiastic compliments. Everyone was congratulated on individual contribution to a spectacular result.

Not everyone could cop coveted prizes and awards, but everyone tried. Although some were adjudged winners, everyone won honor for themselves and the groups for which they worked.

Rootin', Shootin', Hardboiled Engineers ready and waitin'.

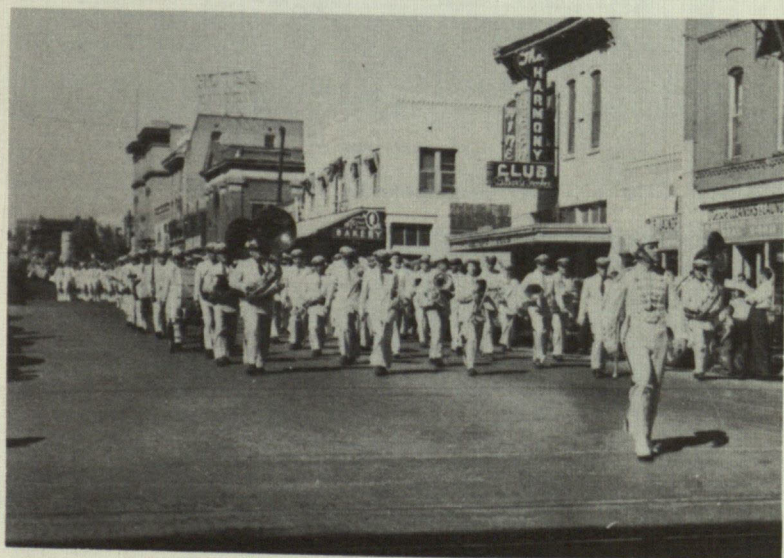

Parade

Grand Sweepstakes Winner was exquisite combination of feminine beauty, imaginative creation, hours of preparation.

Homecoming activities began brilliantly with a huge rally and bonfire which illuminated the surrounding countryside. It flared in the glare of photographer's flash-guns through a full day of a parade more than a mile in length, with over two dozen floats and units, sorority lodge decoration contests, a thrill-packed gridiron struggle, and ended in one bright blaze at the Queen's Coronation during the climaxing dance. But the embers still glow warmly in the memories of TW patriots.

To say Homecoming, 1949, was a success would be somewhat of an understatement.

ANNUALLY, the huge block-letter "M" resting quietly on old Mt. Franklin becomes the scene of frantic bustle and muss as Freshmen students, under the careful supervision of their elder classmates, apply a cosmetic coat of whitewash to the boulders comprising the hillside initial.

Daubed with lime and water, and a bit of Mt. Franklin itself, the weary workers trundle back to the campus for the traditional bean feed.

Appetities appeased, the students then gather to observe a few of their fellow students portray their version of the annual, nation-wide Sadie Hawkins Day and Dog Patch festivities.

Co-ed Ball

Convention is smugly ignored about the second week in December every year as members of the fair sex get together and plot strategy for one of the big events of the social schedule . . . The Co-ed Ball. This annual transcendation of woman's social duty is gleefully awaited by the perennially bankrupt male populace on campus . . . And here's why. The women ask for dates, provide transportation and a boutonniere, escort their date to a banquet and dance, and then take him to the other side of the stream for further refreshments. The affair is equally beneficial to the woman, however, as this is when she can step forth and grasp the handsome brute whom she has been worshipping from afar all semester.

SUN CARNIVAL

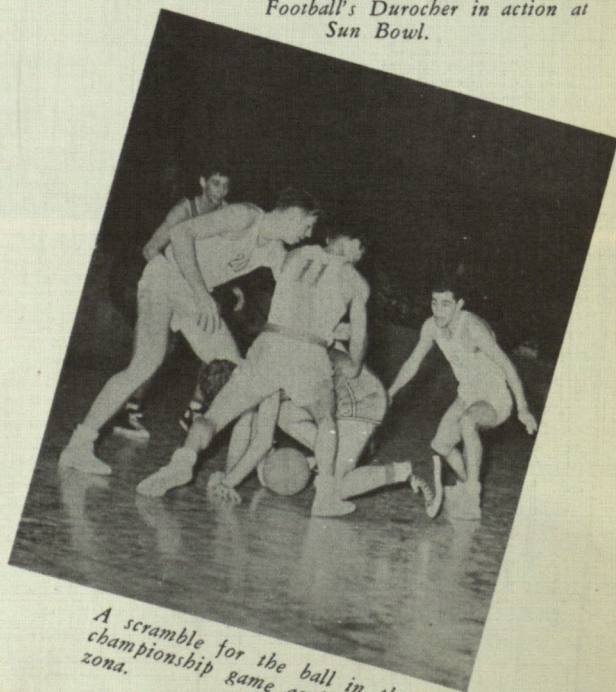

El Paso's mid-winter Sun Festival is fast approaching the scale of New Orleans' famed Mardi Gras in immensity of production, and one of the most important factors in its success is Texas Western College. While TW has always been one of the major participants, this year it outdid itself. Signal achievement was Western's role as host team in the Carnival's feature attraction, the Sun Bowl . . . and the Miners' consequent victory over Georgetown University. Also, Western's hoop squad took second spot in the Sun Carnival Basketball Tournament, and Western racquet wielders captured both the singles and doubles crowns in the tennis tourney. The college was represented in the Sun Queen's court by three duchesses and seven princesses, and the gigantic Carnival Parade was livened by TW's band and pepsquad.

SNOW FIESTA

A unique situation in the form of a Snow Fiesta sans snow faced the students of Texas Western this year, but quick thinking on the part of the Student Council overcame Nature's double cross and the annual winter frolic was chalked up as a big success. The usual skiing, tobogganing, and snow-wallowing was replaced by a treasure hunt and a dance... and the students rounded out their show of contempt for an uncooperative Mother Nature by crowning Mary Louise (Cissy) Dugan as Snow Queen in spite of there being no snow. Three people hit the treasure hunt jackpot, each receiving gift certificates, and two additional students received certificates for winning the scheduled bowling tournaments. Headquarters for the affair was set up at the Ruidoso Club House, and tickets for coffee and doughnuts were dispensed there. The day was topped off by a dance with music by Les Webel.

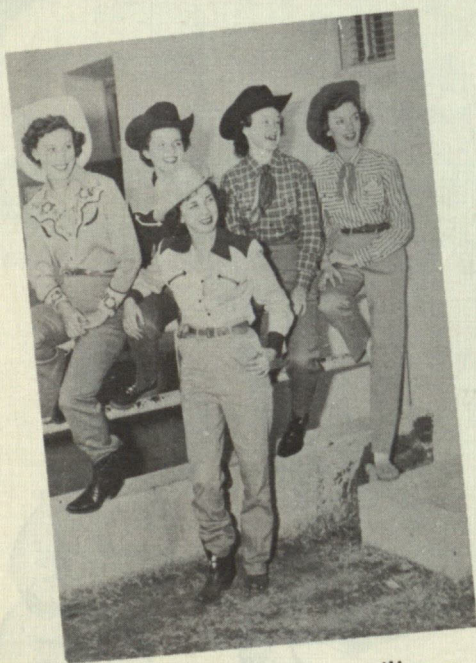

A couple of the boys were "beating it out" in the snack bar.

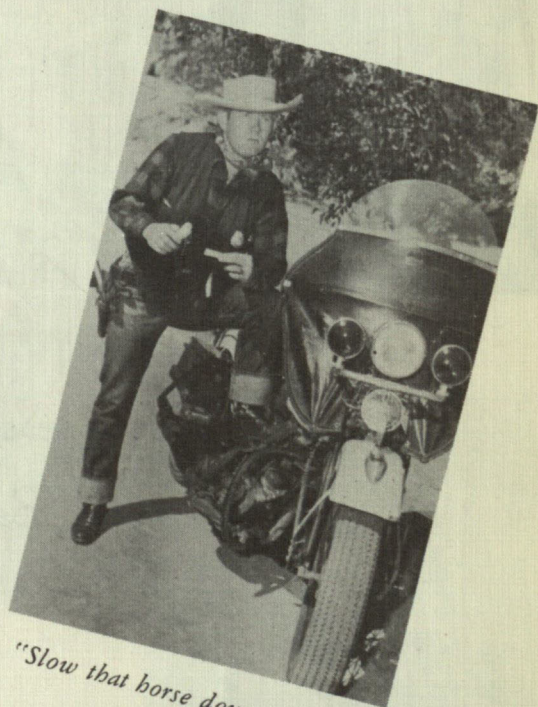

The band played an old-fashioned "boe-down."

WESTERN DAY

The campus "drug-store" cowboys and cowgals got a chance to exhibit their newest "horsy" regalia on TW Western Day in February. It was the one day of the year that the co-eds could attend classes without their usual feminine dress, and they took advantage of the opportunity. Most of the students got into the spirit. Bowlegged characters colmped around the campus, "do-si-doed" at an old-fashioned square dance at noon in the Student Union Building Ballroom, and equipped with "cayuses" from the stables, rode in a western parade that afternoon. Conversation with a western twang was normal, boots were shined to a high polish, and Bull Durham sales jumped tremendously. Everyone expressed approval of the "going-on", and a new tradition received publicity that guaranteed its continuation.

The cowgals were smiling a Western welcome.

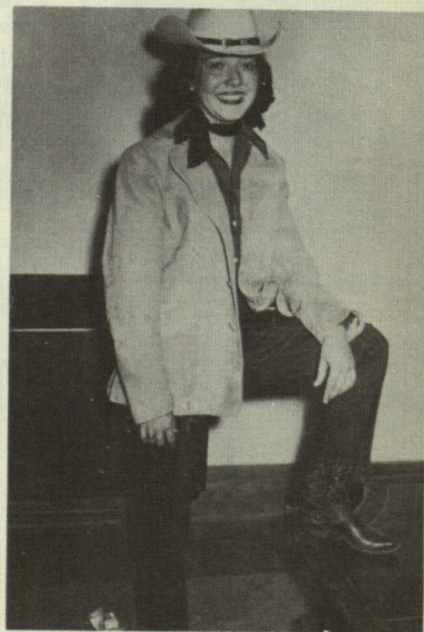

"Slow that horse down, friend."

That "cayuse" was kinda unruly.

Java was mighty popular, too.

"Howdy, pardner"

From this extensive field of beauties, the finalists were chosen.

Second Annual Flowsheet Beauty Contest and Dance

Artificial star shone brightly at the second annual FLOWSHEET "Starlight" dance and Beauty Contest revealing it as one of the foremost social activities of the past year at Texas Western. Beautiful coeds filled the lime-lights providing an eye-pleasing spectacle for those who attended the beauty parade. The dance following the judging was one of the best attended affairs of the year.

"And which 'little' queen are you?"

The staff decorates the ballroom for the dance.

Semi-finalists posed for photograph while waiting for the judging to begin.

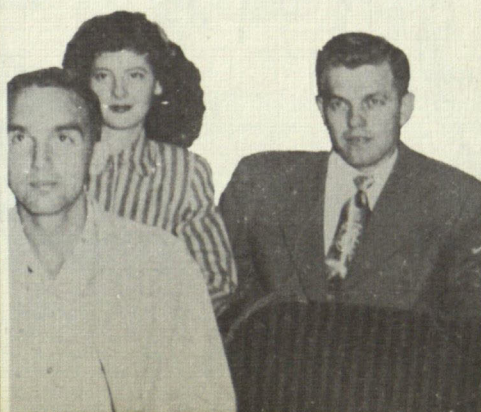

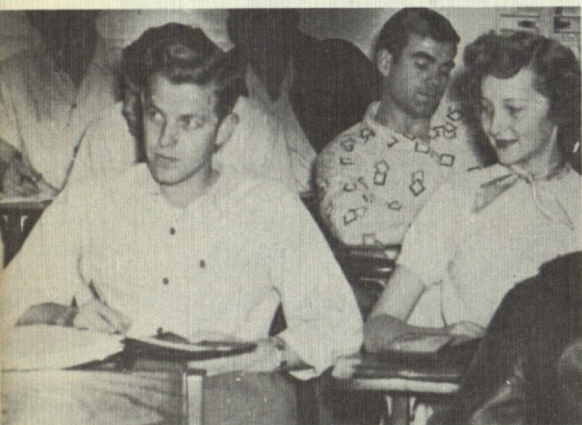

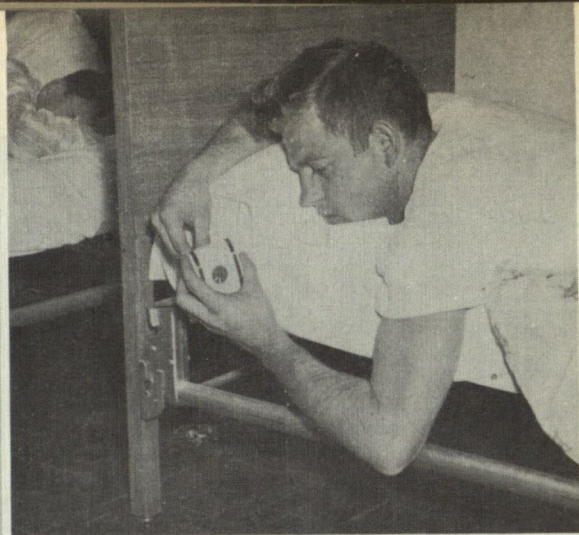

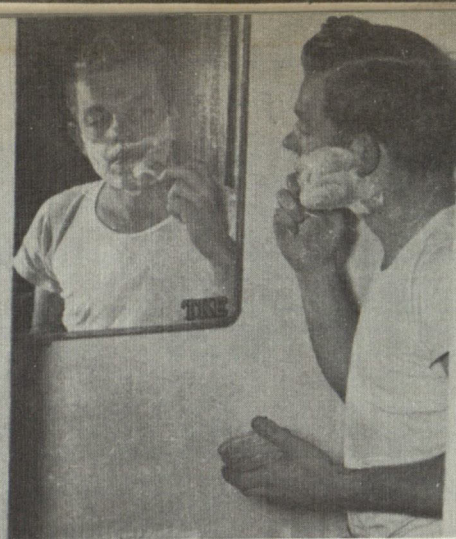

Brief instruction as to procedure and order of presentation was given to the contestants.

Most Beautiful Girl

Representative of Texas Western beauty are the five winners, adjudged by impartial critics as being "most beautiful".

Weekday

Nearly every student in the dormitory has a routine that is followed throughout each day. On this page, a FLOWSHEET photographer has attempted to depict the activities of an average male student. In the course of a week-day, he: (beginning in upper righthand corner)

1. HAS DREAMS SHATTERED by the *!@"†# alarm clock while his roommate slumbers blissfully on.
2. PERFORMS DAILY RITUAL of shaving, gazing morbidly at his face which looks back from out the mirror.
3. GOES TO CHOW making two block trek to cafeteria annex to girl's dormitory.
4. ATTENDS CLASSES with many other students, listens to lectures, takes notes.
5. LOOKS FOR LETTER in dormitory mail boxes, quite often finds box empty except for dust.
6. TAKES FIVE in Student Union Building snack bar with friends to drink cokes, coffee. Talk about women, politics, exams, and other people.
7. MAKES READY for evening engagement, peers at image through smudges on bureau mirror.
8. ATTENDS MOVIE at local theatre with co-ed friend.
9. SPENDS LONG HOURS OF STUDY late at night for next day's assignments.

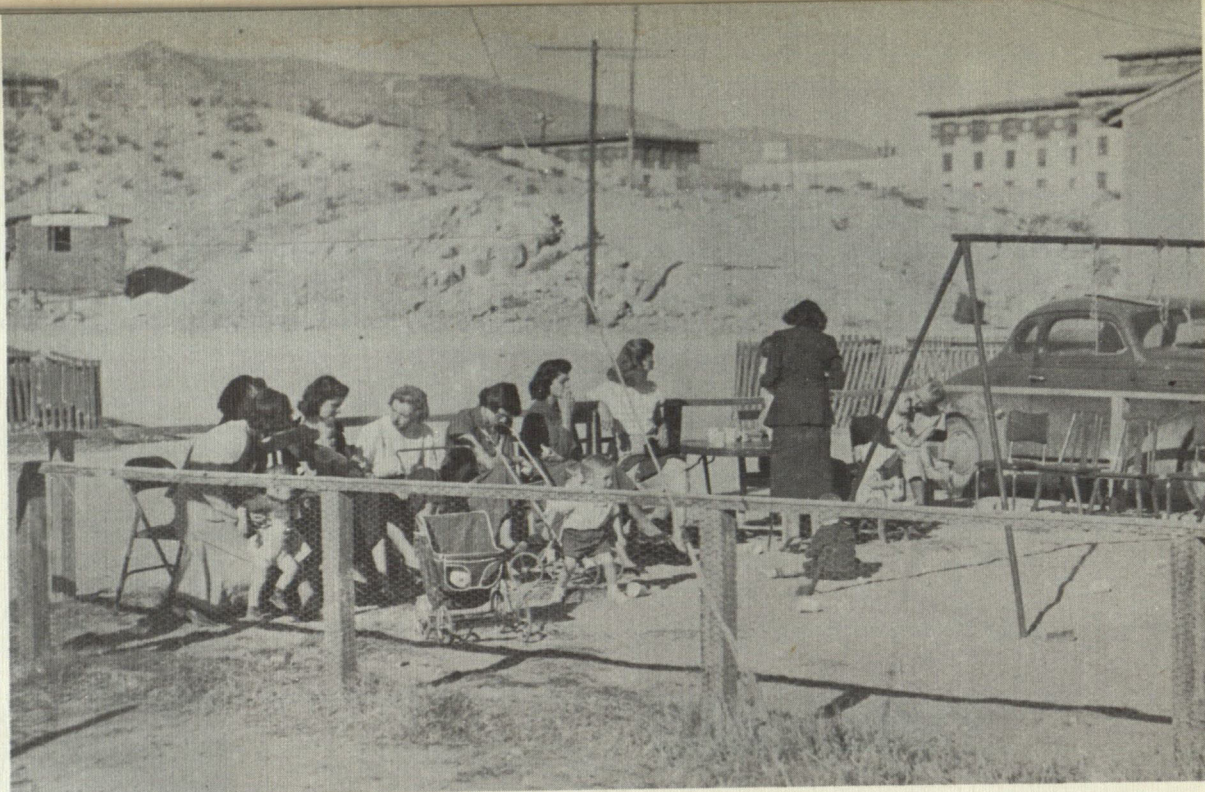

Sunday

On Sunday, a day of rest, dormitory routine is different. The FLOW-SHEET cameraman follows a girl and her friends through a typical Sunday schedule. During the day, she:

1. SLEEPS LATE, while roommate and neighbor read the funnies.
2. GOES TO CHURCH with room mate and dorm neighbor, spends a quiet moment in prayer.
3. RECEIVES PHONE CALL from boyfriend, who outlined agenda of evening's activities.
4. GOES FOR AN AFTERNOON RIDE in sleek convertible with some of her friends. There is much to see around El Paso, and those warm, sunny Sunday afternoons lend themselves to such activity.
5. PLAYS BRIDGE in the dormitory lounge with fellow card-enthusiasts. The afternoon passes rapidly with light chatter and heavy bidding.
6. GOES ON DATE for supper at one of the local restaurants with boy-friend.
7. SPENDS THE EVENING dancing and dining with a pleasant atmosphere of well-dressed people, dancable music, and a charming partner.
8. SAYS GOODNIGHT at the end of another week. Must be in by 11 p.m. to start out another week in the morning.

V e t V i l l a g e

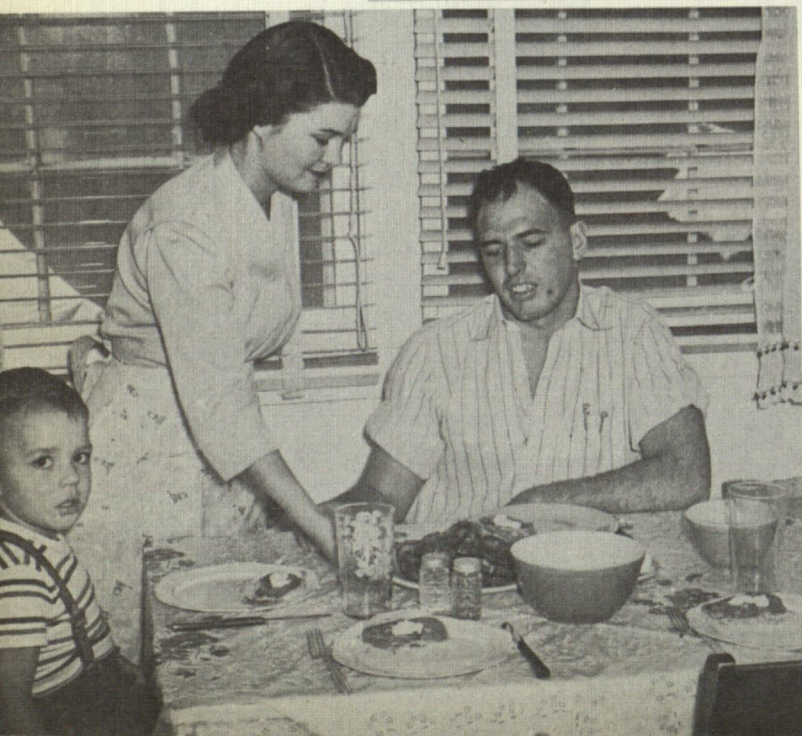

In the afternoon, the recreation area, though crowded, provides a place for friendly companionship, exchange of gossip, and comparison of problems.

Sometimes it seems a woman's work is never done.

And there's always time out for studies for a quiet few minutes with the family before bed-time.

Appetites whetted by treks through surrounding mines, celebrants needed no urging to form a hasty line at the chow call.

Then down into the loading tunnel where beans and frankfurters bubbled merrily in huge tubs, and the coffee was superb.

Eager and anticipatory the crowd milled around the rendezvous prior to the bean-feed and the subsequent initiation.

St. PATRICK'S

Although St. Pat has returned to the nether regions where he dwells in silence except when honored on his day, the mining engineers and their related engineering companions continue through the year the traditions begun when this school was the famous Texas College of Mines. Once each year on March 17, they break forth with pent-up energy to honor the patron saint of miners.

Posed in characteristic fashion, these engineers poignantly recall earlier days of the West when men were men even as now.

DAY

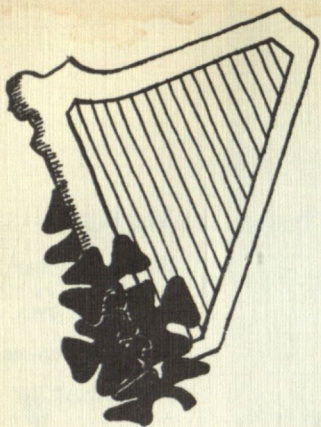

St. Pat's Day, traditionally observed by Texas Western "Westsidars", began with a bang long before sunrise, and continued through to the last wild yell sounded after midnight a day later. During that time, dynamite exploded, sirens wailed, engineering neophytes were initiated at the famous Oro Grande Mine, there was a bean-feed, and the annual Hard-luck Dance, complete with prizes, costumes, and hard-talking, long-spittin', chin-whiskered engineers.

Finally it was over, and full-fledged engineers gazed ruefully at scrapped knees, tenderly massaged smarting posteriors.

Then back over the rocky, cactus-studded hill to the starting point, and newly learned curses were showered on the boulderous path.

Eager and anticipatory the crowd milled around the rendezvous prior to the bean-feed and the subsequent initiation.

Appetites whetted by trecks through surrounding mines, celebrants needed no urging to form a hasty line at the chow call.

HARD-LUCK DANCE

From the pictures, you'd think the campus was turned over to some Slobbovian refugees for a night, or visited by our New Mexico Aggie friends. Actually, the bearded beings, etc., are Texas Westerners at the annual Hard-luck Dance, March 18. You could come in anything but some came in next to nothing. The bar served refreshments such as "Old Owl Vomit". Johnny Bracey made music and Sam King was in charge of the whole shebang, including the beard contest.

Costume winner hides behind female skivvies.

Whittington gets a fee chin-raising.

Is that a costume or has something slipped?

Those Engineers never give up.

BEAUTIES

Here are the co-eds chosen as the outstanding exponents of feminine charm at Texas Western.

They grace these pages because each has something special in her composition—leadership, interest, popularity, beauty—that extra quality that has gained them the recognition they deserve.

This year the FLOWSHEET Queen has been added to this elite list. She was chosen by a national celebrity whose fame, evidently, has not lessened his appreciation for the finer things.

Dear Mr. Wardy:

It is difficult to choose the prettiest girls from photographs only, but Wally Westmore, Paramount make-up artist, graciously consented to help us.

After taking into consideration personality, hair-do and balance of features, we have made our decision as marked on the photos being returned under separate cover.

Hoping no one gets hurt, and with best wishes, I am

You, the honored men and women of Texas Western, this is your section. Here are listed your names, your pictures, titles and accomplishments. It is hoped they serve as a reminder of the fine outstanding work you have done during your college careers, not only to you, but to those who knew you.

Actually, words mean little when used to praise you, or to record your activities. But words may help—especially may they help recall one of the highest recognitions accorded to college students, that of being named "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

WHO'S WHO

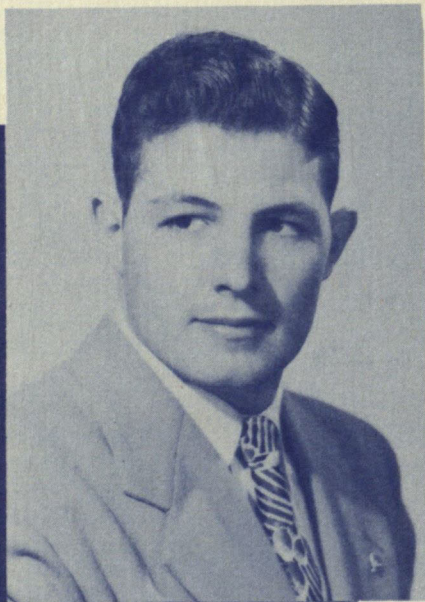

MARGO CONE

Margo, who is a math major, is president of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. She is on the Pan-Hellenic Council, a member of the Pan-American Round Table, and Senior Editor of the 1950 Flowsheet. She was chosen Posture Queen in 1948.

JAMES DeGROAT

Jimmie is a B. B. A. major and a member of Alpha Chi. He played first starting tackle on the varsity football team and was an active member of the "M" Club. He was further honored by being chosen to the 1949 All Border Conference team. Jim is a Men of Mines.

NANCY JENNINGS

Nancy is an English major. She is active in many campus organizations including College Players, Alpha Psi Omega, Alpha Epsilon Rho, Gold Diggers, and Newman Club. She was on the K.V.O.F. and Flowsheet staffs.

MUSIC

Here can be seen the possible beginnings of greatness. Perhaps from this group will come the masterpiece of the future, whether it be spread on canvas with a brush, or fashioned from clay or unglving stone. It may come as memorable music, or written words . . .

And whether or not these students achieve the sought after recognition, they must be credited for their ambition and determination.

Cotton Memorial

Enclosing within its stately, solidly defined walls the majority of Fine Art classes at Texas Western. Here in the attractive, well-lit halls, the students pass to classes in English, Speech, Journalism, Art and its related subjects.

Here on the top floor are hung the finest of contemporary, early-American, and South-western painting. Here in its auditorium are presented thought-provoking lectures and stimulating drama. Also, here are displayed the finest in handcraftsmanship by students of the school.

Here in the spacious rooms of Cotton Memorial, creative individuals find a place and outlet for their creative natures. From them come objects of work, love and beauty, forerunners of even greater productivity in years to come.

Under the friendly and capable guidance of interested instructors, students are able to learn the subtle methods required for perfection, have their faults corrected, and their abilities strengthened.

Here the brush stroke, the charcoal line, the pastel shading are transformed into something fine—something visually pleasing.

Cotton Memorial also provides spacious galleries with carefully planned illumination for students to display their work, and also to study the work of other artists during the several exhibits during the year.

Here in Cotton Memorial, interest does not stop at the door—it is carried out into the world of practical application, of active interest, and of useful experience. Instructors do not limit their interest in the welfare of their students merely to the classroom, but take an active concern in the present and future endeavor of those who are learning and practicing under their supervision.

Here too is heard the tap, tap, tap of the silver-smith's hammer. Gleaming silverware and other pieces of brilliant beauty are painstakingly formed under the skillful hands of students, directed by competent instructors.

Here is stressed the practical as well as the artistic. Students learn the mediums of advertising, the secrets of layout, the "tricks of the trade."

Interblended is the whizz of the coping saw, the hiss of the soldering torch. Fine copies of ancient jewelry are made here, as well as new, rich stylings, created by these craftsmen.

Cotton Memorial Building stands as a huge, linear monument not only to the name of the man it reveres, but to the future lives of those who study and create within its walls. Here are shaped not only the pottery jar, the enameled vase, the useful bowl, but also the future lives of those who learn by doing. These students take pride in their work, realizing that incorporated in it are long hours of patience, care, sometimes disheartenment, and finally success.

Intermingling with the rest of the sounds is the buzz of the potter's wheel as deft fingers mold the clay into symmetrical objects de arte.

Here then is Cotton Memorial, Home of Fine Arts, that part of college which continues the advance of culture and civilization. Here the students find those expressions of life which add measurably to any education. Some who study here will go on to greater endeavour in these fields—others will work at something else, but behind both is a substantial background of informative instruction.

From inanimate, uninteresting bunks of wood and clay are etched attractive figures, seeming almost to catch the emotion and breath of life.

Kappa Pi counts among its members as fine a group of artists as ever wielded a brush, pallet knife, or etching tool. Under the inspiring sponsorship of Miss Vera Wise, Texas Western Art Department head, the group capably furthered, during the past year, its purpose of fellowship and improvement among student artists.

TWC Reaches All-Time High In Enrollment

A record number of students have enrolled at Texas Western College for the fall semester, with the standing at 2163 as compared to last year's 1963. This record is expected to rise before registration on Oct. 3.

Students from six foreign countries and Egypt, and 40 states make up the overall picture.

A report of the different classifications shows that 670 freshmen have enrolled, which is a slight increase over last year's 642. The sophomore class sustained a small drop from 477 to the present 419. Junior students have increased from 382 to a new figure of 397. Another record figure has been set by the 368 senior students registered. Returning for further college work are 317 post-graduate students, which is a big increase over the previous number of 65.

One thing of interest is the fact that the men outnumber women more than two to one; 1450 men and 713 women. Last year's figures

The PROSPECTOR, a brash, bold-bannered tabloid, delves gleefully into such campus news as serious stories on administrative policies all the way down to that malicious chronicle of social doings, "Muck." Published weekly, the PROSPECTOR makes no claim to "print all the fittable news," but it does an adequate job of campus coverage. Considering that the tabloid is assembled between periods of quartet practice, the newest story making the rounds, or panel discussions on sex and socialism, it is surprising that it always manages to win high spots in collegiate press competitions.

approximately 50 letters a day received by the dean of students office in response to advertising about Texas Western that have been run in recent issues of local publications. The ads were run in the March issues of Varsity and Senior Prom in the March 18 issues of Saturday Evening Post and Colliers. The first letters were received every 26, and the number has steadily increasing since then, according to Dean J. F. Williams. Reply to the letters sent in names and names of contributors are mailed out. Interest has been expressed by prospective students in Canada and other countries, although there has been time for answers outside of continent. The ads are sponsored by the college and the El Paso Sunland Club.

New Lighting System Planned For Library

Installation of the new lighting system for the Texas Western College library is scheduled to begin within the next two weeks. Baxter, librarian, said this week. New lights will be installed in two reading rooms, the main hall in front of the library, the library administration building, and the two top stack levels. Polk said.

If by now you're asking yourself how all this build-up affects you it affects you more than you might realize.

Regardless of your major course of study here in school or your ulterior purposes in coming here, the main purpose of a college education is to make you a more mature individual, capable of coping with the world of the future and of being socially acceptable to your fellow individuals.

Some there are that never achieve this during four years of college.

And it's their own fault. So we invite you to just flat go over to Cotton Memorial, toddle up to the top deck, and look around. You don't have to be an art lover to like paintings. You don't have to know good art from bad. The only criteria you should use is: "I like it" or "I don't like it."

The picture, "Earth Tanks" in the accompanying photograph is an example of what we mean. It is a scene familiar to anyone who has spent any portion of their time in the vast southwest. The painting will undoubtedly recall a certain time and place, as well as a feeling of nostalgia—which is all any good painting can do.

There's a lot of others over there too, like the "Sandstorm" and the "Rainstorm." There's some good portraits too, of people like you know back home. Of course there'll be some you just flat won't like—we hope so, we didn't like them either.

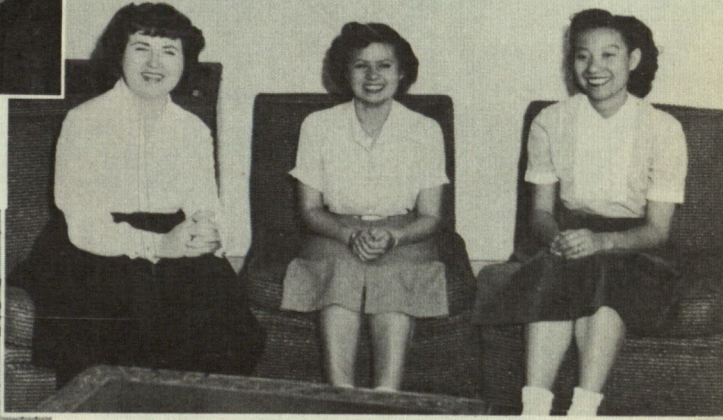

But we "Richamend" that you go over, regardless of what you consider yourself. A little culture, like good manners, never EL BURRO, campus humor magazine, underwent revolutionary changes in both content and appearance from the moment that the staff for 1949-50 took over. Under the direction of editor Mike Martinez, a host of literary and artistic talent kept turning out improved issues month after month much to the enjoyment and delight of the TW student body and faculty alike. The honorable awards and recognition that came from many quarters are but a portion of the success story of the student journalists shown here. A full measure of credit goes to each and every staff member who shared in making EL BURRO one of the outstanding college publications in the nation.

The Flowsheet story—blood, sweat, and tears . . . The editor's blood, the staff's sweat, and tears of joy from all when the last page went to the printers. This year, what we consider an extraordinarily conscientious staff put in many long hours—both day and night—in constructing the biggest Flowsheet in the school's history . . . more pages, more pictures, and more copy. Sometimes the outlook was bleak. Pictures didn't turn out, copy was late, and some layouts just wouldn't work out. Finally, however, pages and then whole sections started taking shape, and after several extended deadlines it was all in . . . And the result is what you now hold in your hands.

Jack Billings, experts sports photographer, checks basketball shots before taking them to downtown papers.

Student photographers clicked shutters, flashed bulbs to provide pictorial record of the school year at Texas Western. Long hours in the dark-room, and patient, hawk-eyed waiting resulted in pictures "worth a thousand words."

George Wardy, FLOWSHEET editor, planned, took, and printed his own pictures to make annual pictorially complete.

Students in typography lab have opportunity to learn through solving actual problems presented by required printing material.

PRINT SHOP

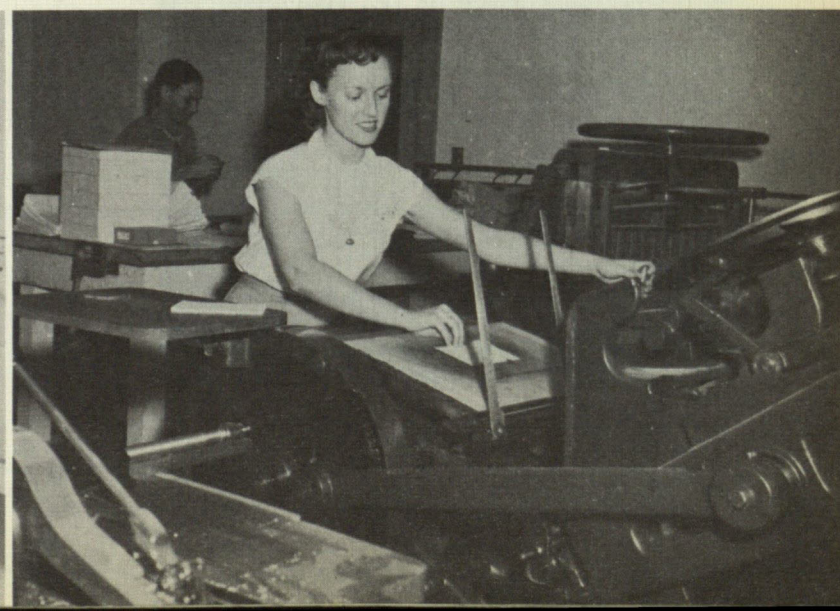

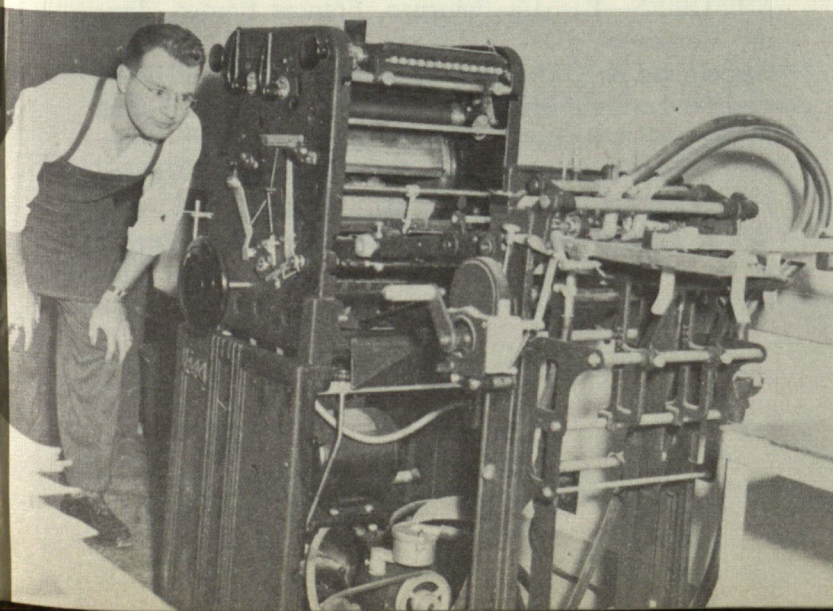

Texas Western's print shop, complete with some of the most modern equipment, provides students with opportunity to learn fine techniques of printing processes, preparing them for problems they must face in coming years of publishing and writing. Although production is limited primarily to college printed material, designer-craftsman-instructor Carl Hertzog often introduces interesting personalities and creations to followers of the inked-type trade.

Tom Lea, renowned El Paso artist and author visits with instructor Hertzog relevant to new ideas in book-publishing.

By careful observance of printing processes, students learn methods and procedure used throughout printing industry.

Sporting events have been one of the chief diversions since the days of the Roman Gladiators, and this fact was once again upheld at Texas Western this year, both from a spectator and a participant viewpoint.

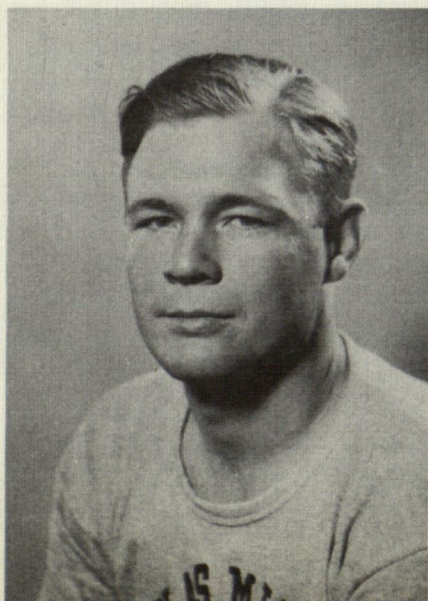

In some fields, Miner teams were supreme, in others they were mediocre,—but in all they had the support of their school.

TEXAS WESTERN 1949 SCHEDULE

...consisted of a four-pronged attack that hit the middle, the tackles, the ends and the airways with equal force and in unpredictable order. Ralph Brewster's passes accounted for two of the tallies—one on a 54-yard hit-and-run play featuring some scatting by Gerald Campbell, the other on a shortie to George Grounds. Jim Hammond, Cordell McCraw and Bill Chesak got through to the green grass with the ground forces. Again it was a last-minute effort by the opposition which robbed the locals of a shutout.

KIDD FIELD, NOV. 5—TW's vaunted shock troops ran into West Texas' version of Patton's Third Army and went limping home with slightly sour memories of Homecoming, 1949. Plus their second consecutive loss, a 13-0 spilling at the hands of Texas Tech, the setback gave the Westerners' Border Conference title aspirations a one-way ticket to oblivion, dropping them into fourth spot in the BC stackup. Dell Morgan's muscle-bound Raiders took the opening kickoff on their own goal and started a march that had them in the pay zone just a few plays later. They did it again in the third, following a blocked punt. For the first time since 1947, the locals failed to make a point.

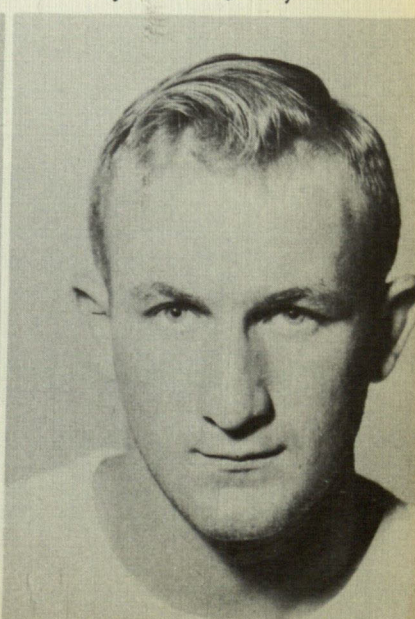

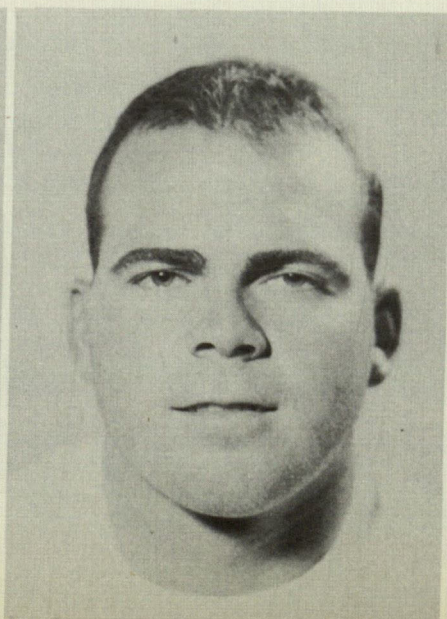

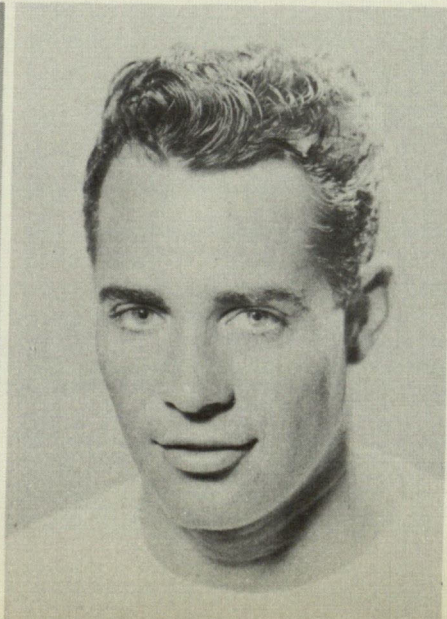

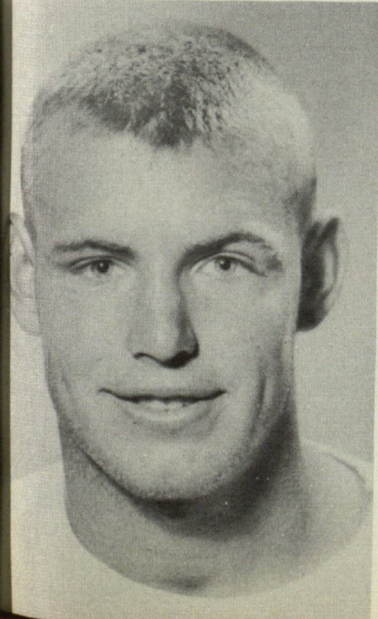

with efficiency on the ground to stack up a 14-0 halftime lead. But the Miners bows did some experimenting in the second go-round and discovered that a hectic mixture of air and footballs equals a potent—and fearsome—weapon. An interception and long runback by Gerald Campbell set up the first TW score and a fumble recovery by Bill Tittle led up to the second. Pug Gabrel made both scores. But the locals threatened just once in the second half and a fumble stymied that effort. And Sol Kaulukukui's tosses to Harry Kahuani—from a razzle-dazzle backdrop—kept the Miners guessing.

TEXAS WESTERN 1949 SCHEDULE. The game also put a "first" into the TW athletic record book—it was the first time in history the local school had tallied a victory over West Texas on the Buffs' home field. The entire TW line alternately tore holes open for its own backs and closed 'em on the Buff ball-packers to turn in another shining night of offensive-defensive work. Bill Chesak got two of the four first-half TW touchdowns; the others were added by Button Fraser and Cordell McCraw. Tom Steele supplied the final Miner tally in the early third. West Texas crossed the double-stripe once—also in the third.

Stretching their still-unraveled victory string down its first straight stretch, the visiting Texas Westerners put across two touchdowns in each half—and added a goal-line stand to end all goal-line stands—as they rambled to a 28-0 win over the Arzonans. Pug Gabrel got the first Miner tally, climaxing a 94-yard drive early in the first quarter. A Ralph Brewster-to-Cordell McCraw pass provided another TD in the same period. Gabrel and Gerald Campbell scored in the second half. Jim Davis booted four extra points. The line gave up a net 28 yards all night, and in the third quarter it stopped the Arizona offense dead on four consecutive tries from inside the one-yard line.

The loud "bang" with which the Texas Western roundball platoon started off the season slowly ebbed to a barely audible "pop" as the Miners hit a mid-season slump from which they never fully recovered. The Western hoopsters ended up with a total season record of 17 wins and 13 losses. However, most of their losses were received at the hands of conference foes . . . and those were the games which counted. In loop play the Miners racked up five wins against 11 losses. Heading the scoring parade for the Orediggers was forward D. W. Harkins, brilliant one-hand push-shot artist. Harkins cut the strings for a total of 336 points for an 11.2 game average. Following him were center Nelson Ohlemacher with 288 and a 9.6 average and Kayo Perez, half-pint guard, who dropped 234 counters through the mesh for a 7.8 average. Sparkplugging the team all season was Bert Williams whose high-octane hustling salvaged more than one game for the Miners . . . Although this wasn't the best of seasons for Texas Western on the hardwoods, Coach Dale Waters said that he couldn't ask for any more in the way of spirit and will to win.

Freshmen Basketball Team

ROSS MOORE, Coach

Coach Ross Moore's Freshman basketball squad failed to inspire anyone with their play over the season but the squad did produce two top varsity prospects, forward Bill Basden and center Bert Baker.

The Grubstakers came out on the short end in most of their games against opponents that included high school fives as well as Border Conference foes. They were ragged in the initial games but developed as the season progressed into a fair roundball squad.

Forward Bill Basden showed up well in all the Grubstaker games and was among the leading scorers in every tilt. Bert Baker, six-foot, eight inch center suffered from the awkwardness a tall man usually feels but at the close of the campaign began to attain a polish which makes him a top prospect for future Miner squads.

KNEELING—Gerald Campbell, Lewes Schnitz. STANDING—Richard Montoya, Hugh Cardon, Ernest Keily, Javier Montez, Coach Dale Waters.

TRACK

Coach Waters clocks dash men.

While Texas Western didn't have the well rounded track and field squad it boasted last year, it did have several outstanding stars. Topmost of these was Javier Montez who carried the Orange and White to victory in the mile event several times this season. Coach Dale Waters comment on the long-striding sophomore: "Montes is doubtless the greatest track man Texas Western has ever had." Lack of manpower this year kept the Miner spike-wearers from making much of a showing on Southwest ovals.

Tennis Team

Coach Ball was definitely optimistic about the 1950 team early in the season. He had said that Texas Western had its first chance in almost six years to unseat the University of Arizona from the circuit net throne. His optimism was boosted when Farquar and Gonzalez, No. 1 and No. 2, defeated all their Border Conference foes in their first test, the Arizona Invitational. Horn and Kobren also showed up well in intercollegiate matches. These promising triumphs bolstered the team's threat for the Border Conference tennis tournament in May, where they would clash with their top opponents, Texas Tech.

GOLF

Any coach knows the disappointment of losing a few members of a team each year due to graduation or other causes, but few have felt the emptiness experienced this spring by Coach Jack Curtice when an entire golf-squad was decimated. However, several hard-swinging replacements came forward to shape themselves into a formidable golf-squad by competition time. They engaged in several inter-collegiate matches, as well as the Border Conference Meet.

MEN'S INTRAMURAL SPORTS

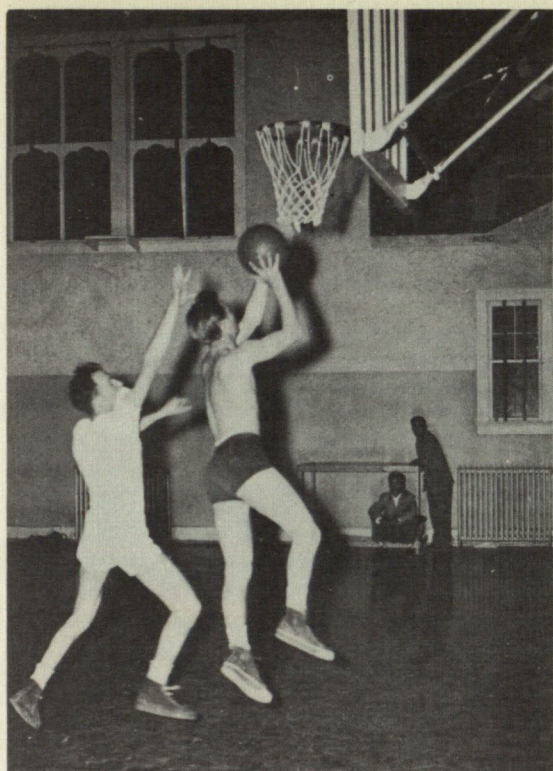

Intramural sports, providing an opportunity for a greater number of students to engage in the enjoyment of competitive sports, were an important part of on campus activity at Texas Western from their inception late in the Fall when ping-pong and pool stepped into the sports limelight to their conclusion late this spring with the sound of softballs smacking into mitts, or popping off hickory bats.

During the several weeks of their existence, ping pong, pool, bowling and basketball provided keen interest for participants and spectators alike. Football, tennis, volleyball and softball also gave an opportunity for a large number of persons to demonstrate their athletic ability to their fellow students.

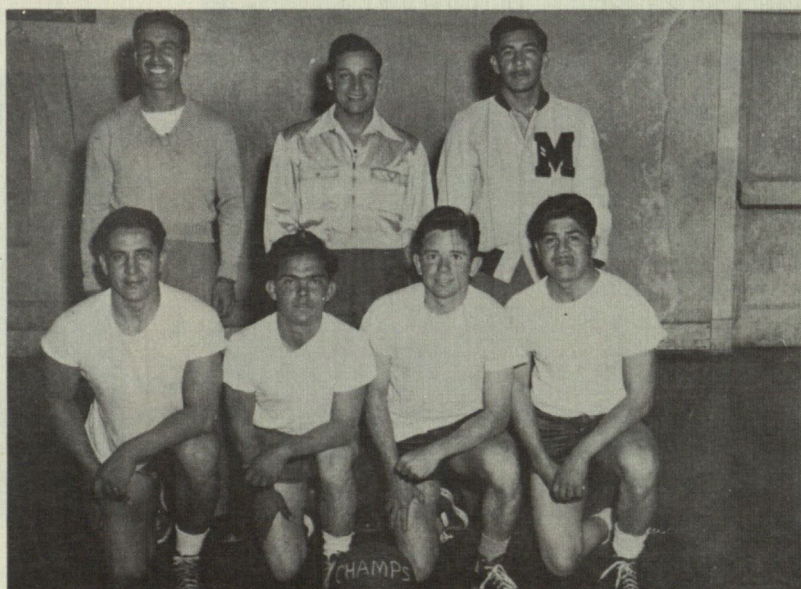

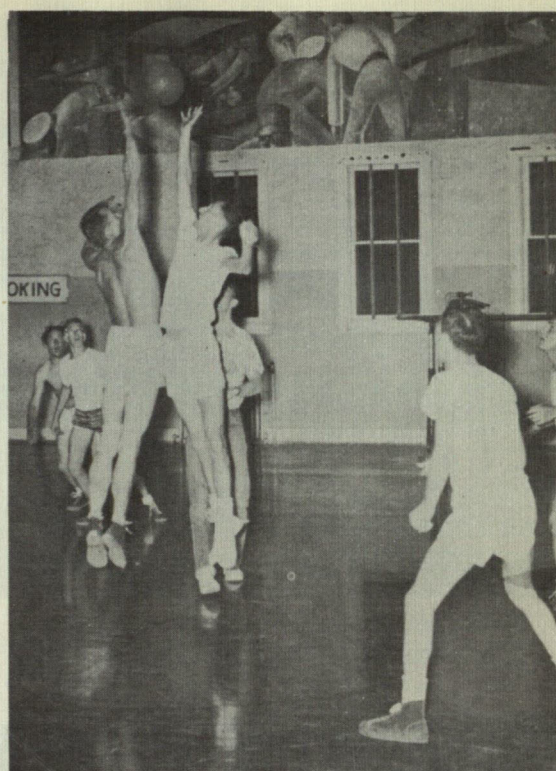

Teams were composed of volunteer members from the several social organizations and independent groups, which placed teams of approximate equal prowess and spiritedness in competition.

High speed, demonstrated here too fast for the camera's speedy eye, was responsible for MAC HORNE ultimate victory.

BOWLING

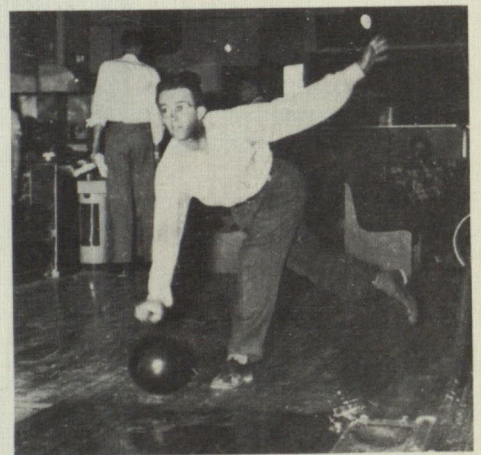

Mesa Bowling alleys resounded each Saturday afternoon with the boom and crash of pins and mineralite as Texas Western Intramural bowlers leveled pins in strikes and spares.

Ribbing of the good natured variety, and coke wagers added incentive to the keggers, many of whom had shown professional proficiency before the season's end.

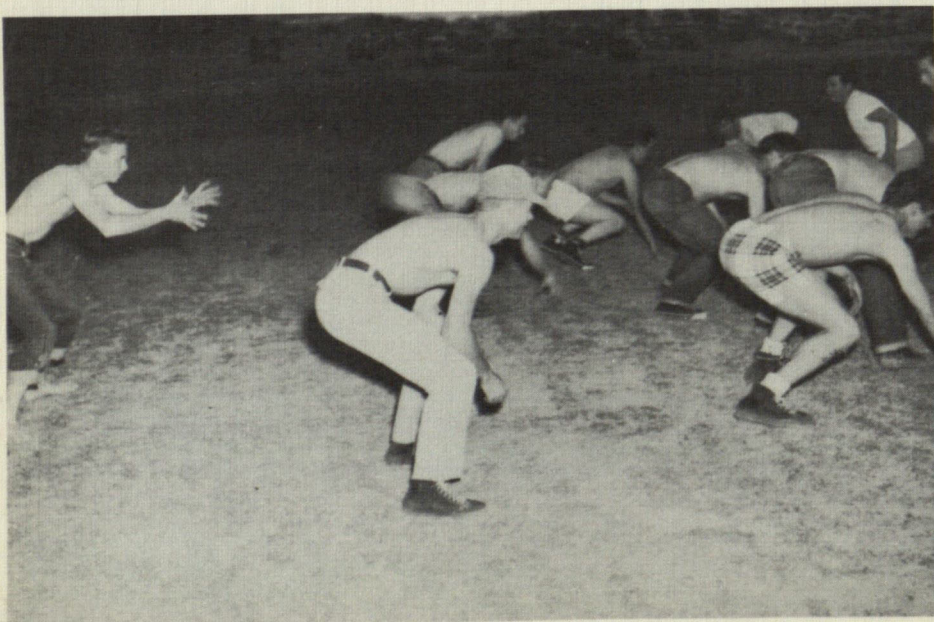

Tom Steel, Don Morril, Dick Bowen, Art Bauchert, and Earl "Spider" Richards (seated) Phi Tau's were first round winners.

Teke Larry Foster was one of league's most consistent bowlers, demonstrated form and skill with cool kegling.

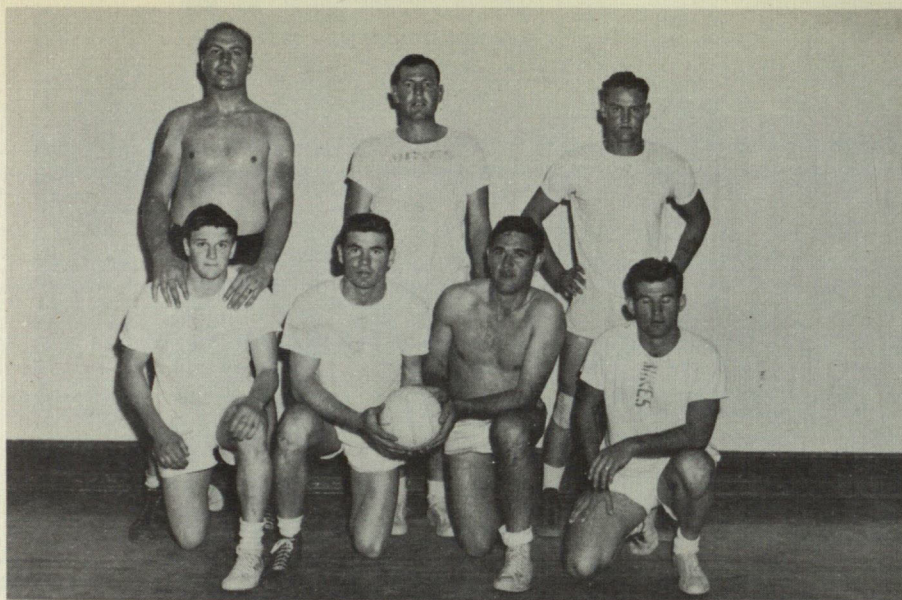

"Hike", and as the blurred ball spirals back to awaiting hands, intramural gridironers prepare to tangle.

FOOTBALL

Conference title games were never more bitterly contested than the intramural contests held at the practice field north of the TW campus. Uncleated shoes made footing unsure, but long end sweeps and distance-passing resulted in impressive scoring totals.

VOLLEY BALL

Volleyball might have started out as a mild, indoor sport, but recent years have formed it into a fast-moving, dexterous game of skill, as demonstrated by teams engaged in intramural volleyball competition.

SOFTBALL

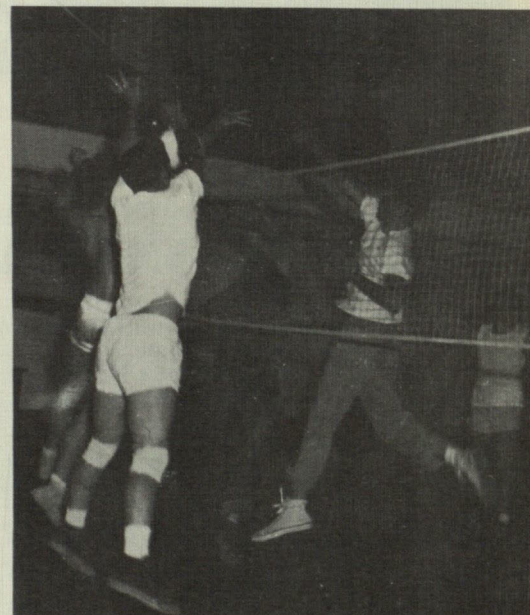

Few people can resist the sound of the "old apple" resounding as it thumps into a leather mitt, or whacks solidly off a lathe-turned hickory limb, and students at Texas Western were no exception. Softball competition brought scenes of umpire-arguing, sideline cat-calls, and infield chatter, during the final event of intramural sports.

Softball brought forth traditional "grandstand" coaches in the form of interested spectators. Interests ranged from the suggestive leer to concentrated perusal.

Kill shot is driven home during heated volleyball competition between intramural squads.

Everyone's up in the air, as players employ teamwork and "knowhow" to make points volleyball competition.

Combining femininity with skill and dexterity, coeds played their best in fierce competition, providing themselves with the thrill and benefits of sportsmanship, and providing others with spectacles "easy on the eyes".

WOMEN'S INTRAMURAL

The world of sports has long since ceased to be solely limited to men. Girl's Intramural Sports at Texas Western was active proof that team spirit, sportsmanship, prowess and enthusiasm is as prevalent among the fairer sex as among their more rugged counterparts.

Grace, action and a camera combine to catch the intent awareness of a crucial moment during volleyball playoffs in girl's intramurals.

Flying high is the circular spheroid, better known as a volleyball, while competition waxes keen between sororities in competition.

"Annie, get your gun" and join the Texas Western coeds, pictured here receiving pointers in the fine-art of marksmanship.

A long one to center field, and a Tri-delt slugger prepares for the dash to first.

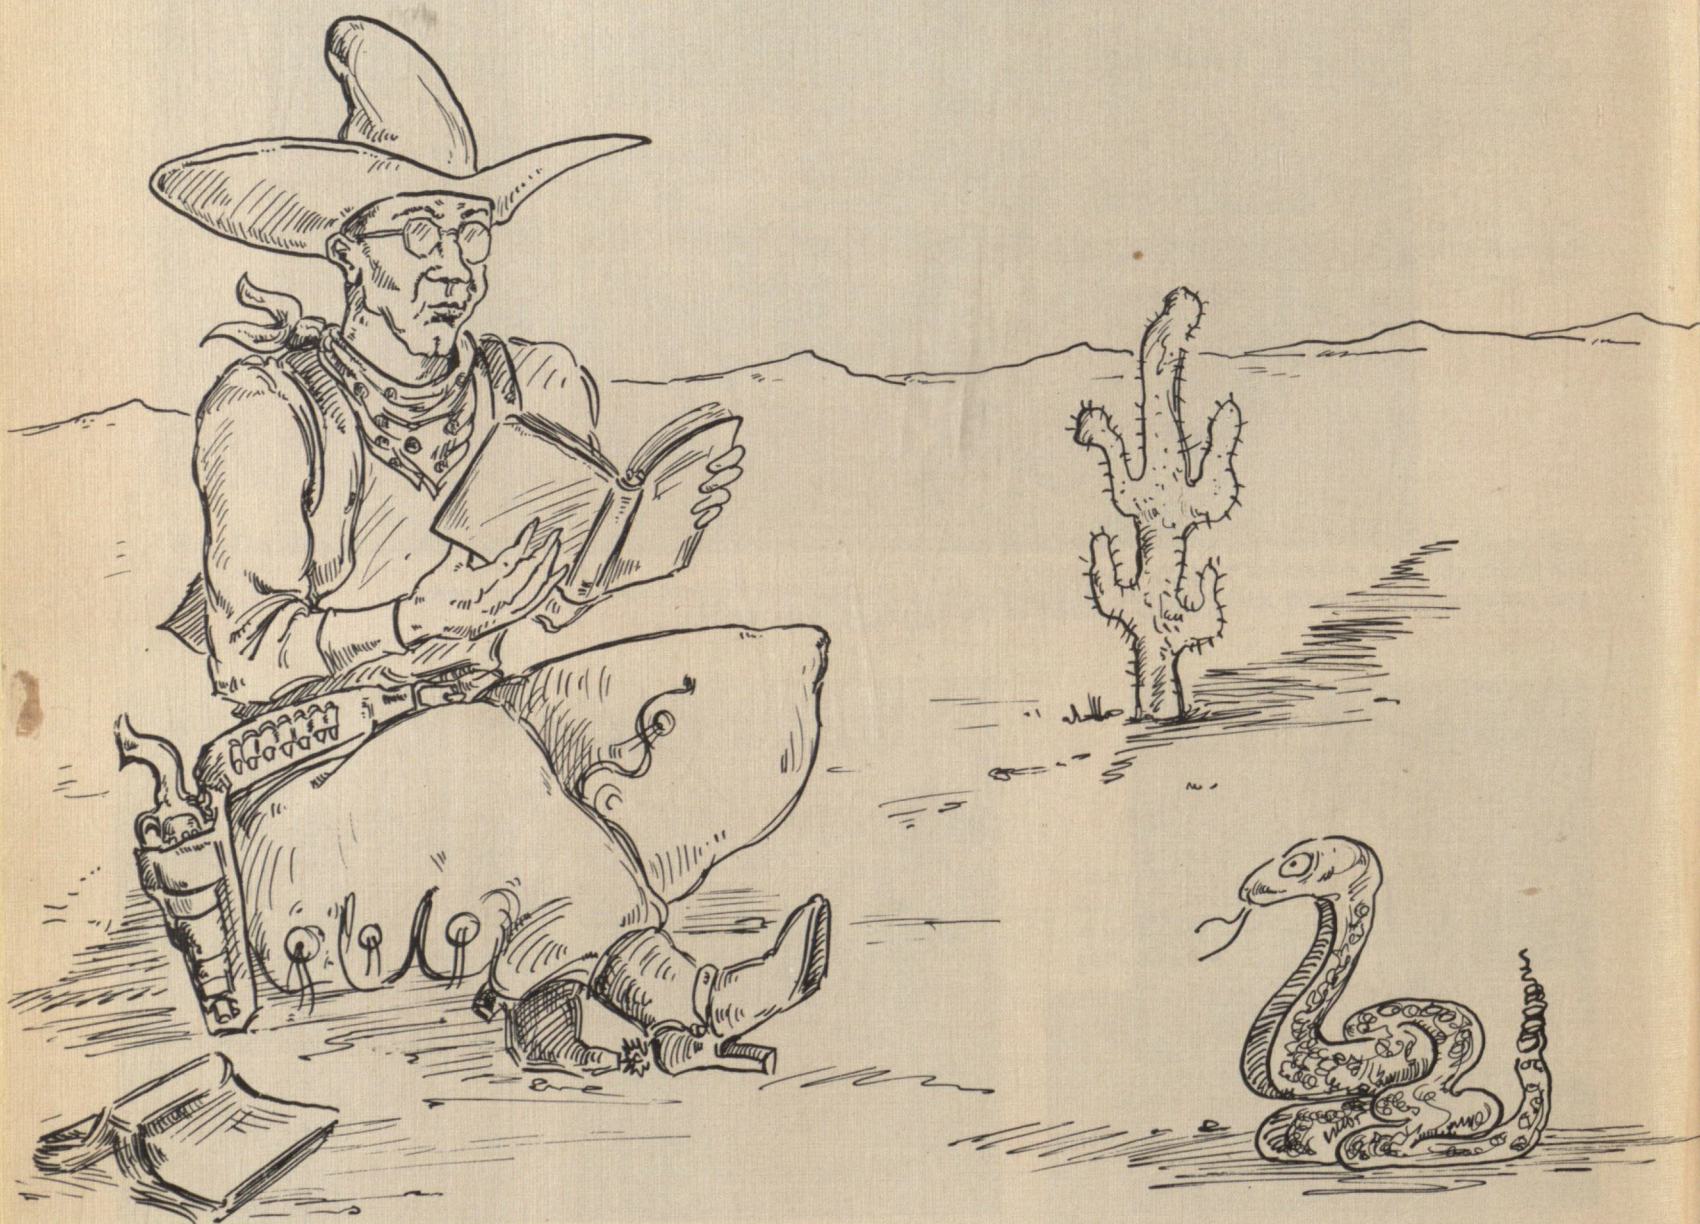

"Streee-ike", umpire Lefty calls, while on-lookers scream advice to team-mate "swinging like a garden gate".

Femme fatals beam triumphantly at the conclusion of a successful volley.

Ready for the serve, coed smiles confidently.

DEANS

ADMINISTRATION

Running a school is not an easy task. It takes a lot of hard work by many people who have the know-how.

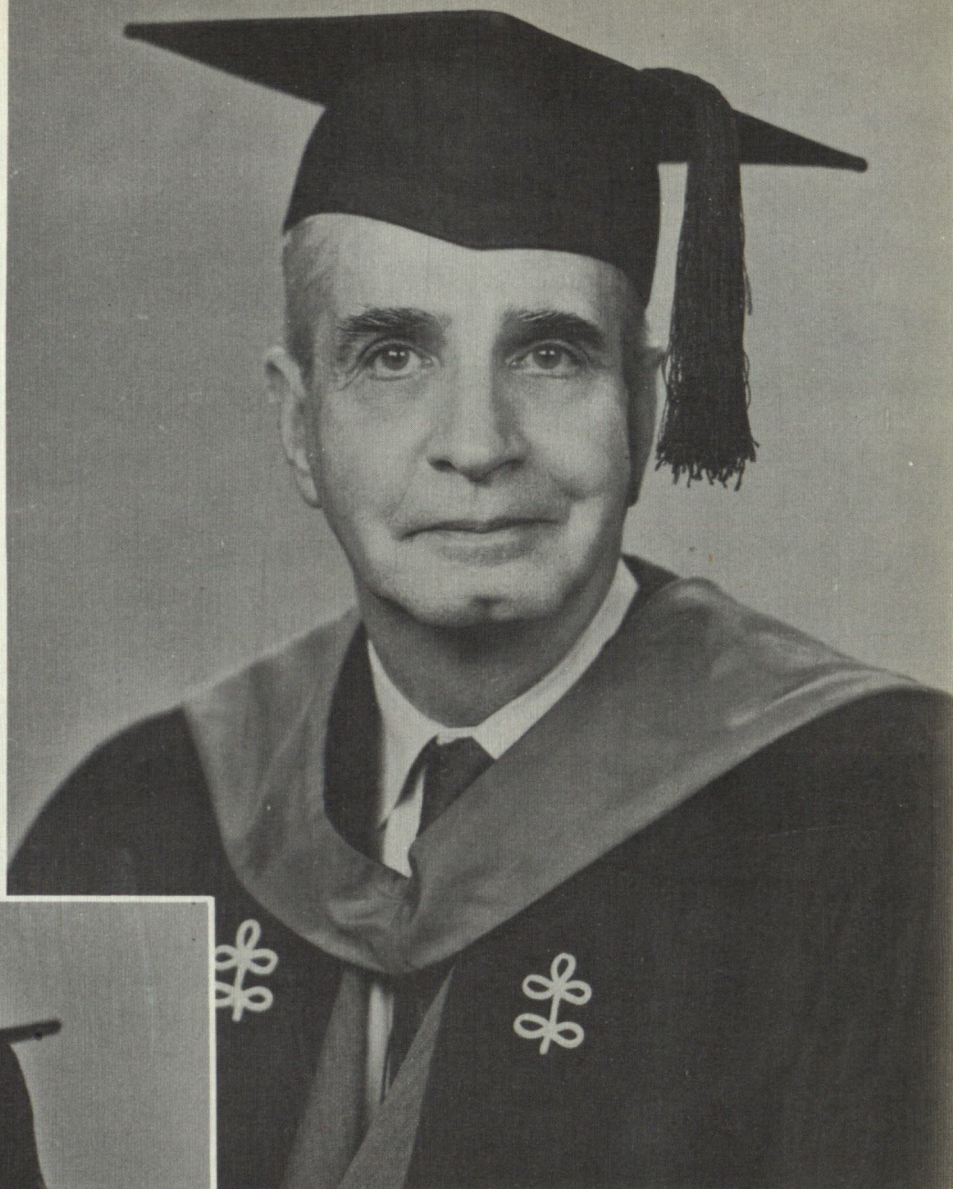

These people plot the course for Texas Western. Some of them you know and think much of. Those who teach do so that you will be better equipped to meet life in later years. Those who take care of the paper work—the secretaries, the office staffs know also that their job is important.

As you see, the administration of our school is in capable hands.

SENIORS

Faces. Hundreds of faces. Some that are as familiar as old shoes—others that you don't recognize. There are all types of people here. The quiet ones. The wheels. Those who made the A's, and those who have had to struggle to stay in the race.

Here are their pictures, side by side, in neat rows—the seniors and the freshman newcomers. All of them helped build a memory.

Life will carry us all on its dizzy course, but in the quiet times, we can thumb through these pages and remember . . .

"But, Dean, I've got to graduate—think of my wife and four kids! Besides, I've been here seven years already."

Senior

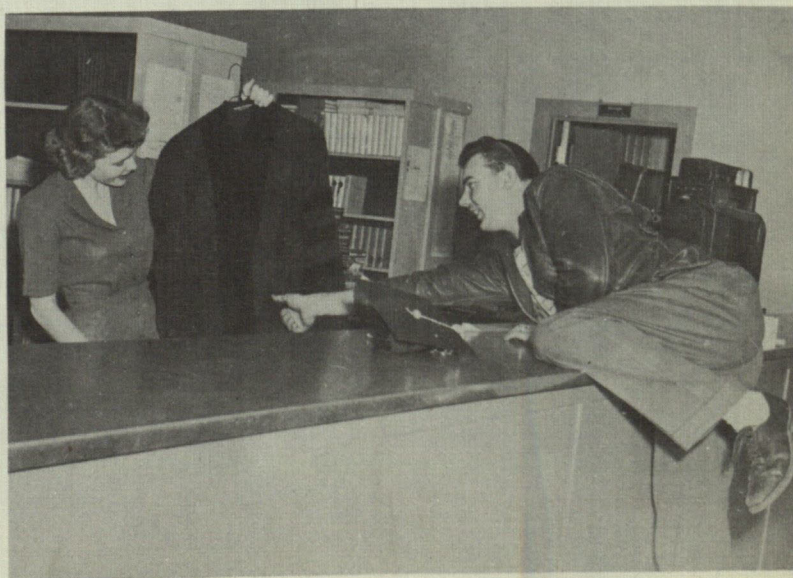

Santa, all I want for Christmas is to become one of those high and mighty seniors. After all, I've been a junior long enough!

Aw Honey, you don't want to graduate! I just got here this year, and what will become of po' little me if you leave?

Snaps

Hey, gimme that glorified night-shirt—at last after all these years I'm going to graduate — honest I am — hey, gimme that!

INSTRUCTORS

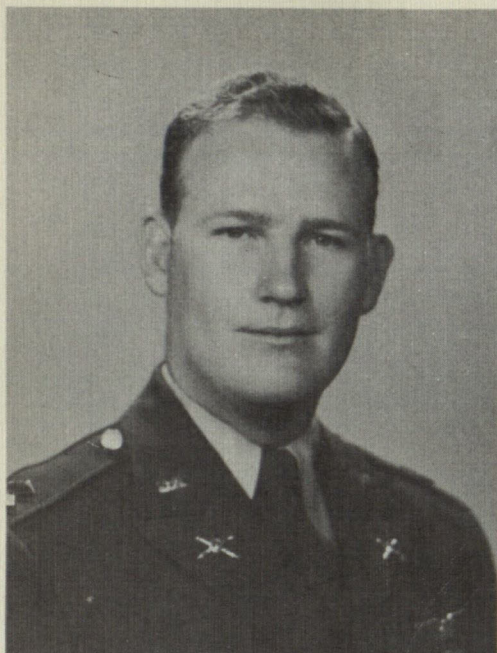

OFFICERS

In a world that is yet in a chaotic condition from a great world war and existing in the shadow of another, the military has become a natural thing. And it exists on the Texas Western campus in the form of a crack R. O. T. C. department. The young men enrolled in this division will help direct our futures if Uncle Sam must once again plunge his subjects into war . . . For them there can be nothing but praise.

Military Ball

SUMMER CAMP

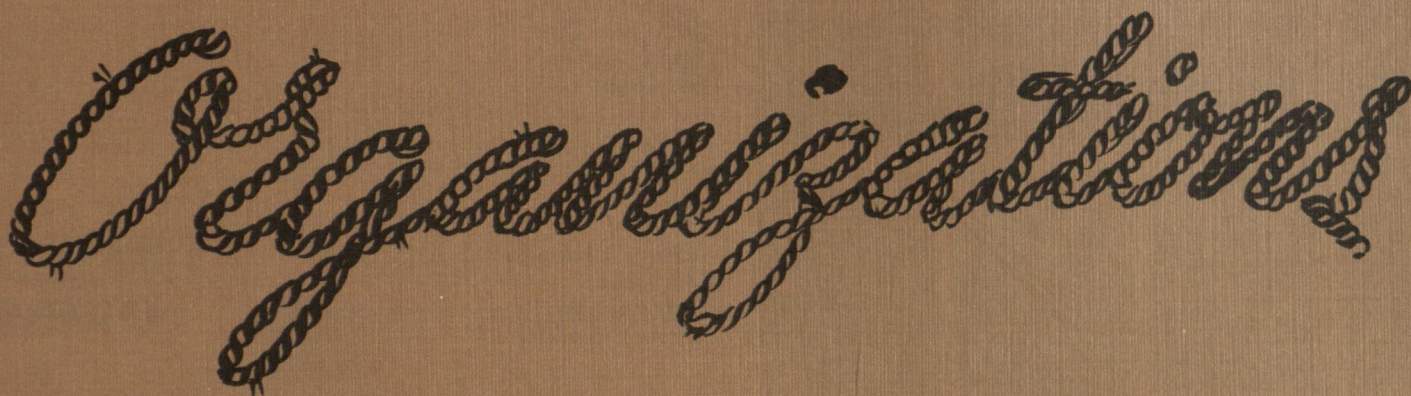

Texas Western R. O. T. C. cadets are all scheduled for a taste of real army life as each potential officer must make a six-weeks tour at Fort Bliss during the summer between his junior and senior years. These future gentlemen of the regular army are treated as the rawest of recruits from the moment of their indoctrination. They immediately become acquainted with a refreshing musical ditty called revelie. This ditty starts them on their day's work at four o'clock in the morning . . . a day's work which includes regular classes, practical experience with field equipment, and practice on the firing range. During their final week they take an observation trip to White Sands Proving Grounds . . . If the cadets survive the six-weeks period, they are awarded with a military ball which is held to honor them and their ladies.

SORORITIES

FRATERNITIES

Every endeavor or pursuit must have its lighter side, a time for relaxation and fun. Education is no exception to that rule, and so there are fraternities and sororities. Clubs grew up.

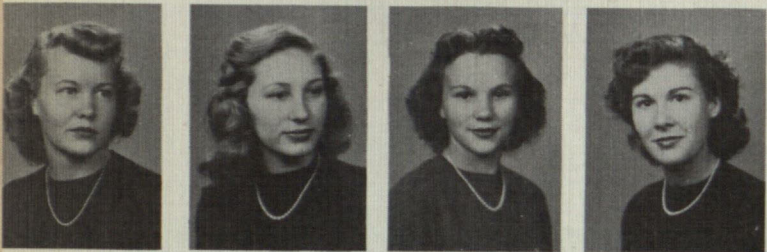

Some of them were for fun. They gave teas, dinners, and dances, and forgot studies for a while.

Other clubs formed for different reasons. Honorary fraternities were organized to give recognition to people in special fields, and clubs devoted to a common interest through lectures, and discussion appeared on campus.

College life is better because of them.

THESE ARE

Thanks. Thanks to all of you who have helped us with your advertisements. You've done much to further the aims of Texas Western by your wholehearted support of the school.

For our part, we have tried our level best to give you good service. And though at times, we've been a little lacking on the professional touch, you have understood that we're just learning, and you have gained many friends.

Thanks again, folks. See you next year.

OUR BOOSTERS

LIGHT-HEARTED

WITH JUST ENOUGH SOPHISTICATION

... that's the creed of our fashion buyers in our Junior's Own Shop on the Fourth Floor. Here you will find the very smartest and the newest on the fashion horizon ... fashions not meant for a "Lorelei" ... not for a "Pollyanna" ... but perfectly created for the modern American College girl. Won't you come in real soon and let us show you our newest? You may choose from America's leading junior designers ... ours alone in El Paso ...

YET SHE DEPENDS ON NATURAL GAS!

Much of El Paso's growth and progress is due to the constant flow of inexpensive, dependable Natural Gas. Industries flourish because of the abundance of Nature's Perfect Fuel for their varied needs. Homes, too benefit from the clean blue flame of Natural Gas. It furnishes economical fuel for heating, for water heating, for cooking and for refrigeration. Yes, El Paso and the Southwest have profited and will continue to profit from nature's rich endowment of sunshine and this natural, perfect fuel.

YOU CAN DEPEND ON TWO GREAT NAMES

The Southern Union Gas and El Paso Natural Gas Companies will continue to expand and grow with the great Southwest.... they are here to serve you with economical, convenient, safe natural gas.

This yearbook has not been designed to go down in posterity as a great achievement in its field . . . Rather, it was compiled with the specific and heartfelt intention it would satisfy the immediate students of Texas Western as a record of the 1949-50 school year . . .

To those who have so generously contributed to this book's construction, I am unable to express my gratitude . . .

My only hope is that this book will be shown to friends, family—and future heirs—with pride.
