ORIENTATION WEEK SET

"M Day" Planned Sept. 18

"M Day" will be held Saturday, September 18. It will begin at 9 a. m. in Magoffin Auditorium and attendance is mandatory for all incoming Freshmen.

The TWC cheerleaders will start activities and Fred Craft, SA president, will give a welcoming speech.

The TWC Band will lead the freshmen to the North end of the Sun Bowl where they will construct the new M and begin a new tradition.

The freshmen will help to prepare the mountain for the final phases of the concreting and the lighting.

The new M will be 109 feet tall and 94 feet wide. It will have glitter material set in the concrete so it will be more visible. The lighting was contracted for by the Student Association with the Infranor Company of North America and will be installed by the El Paso Electric Company.

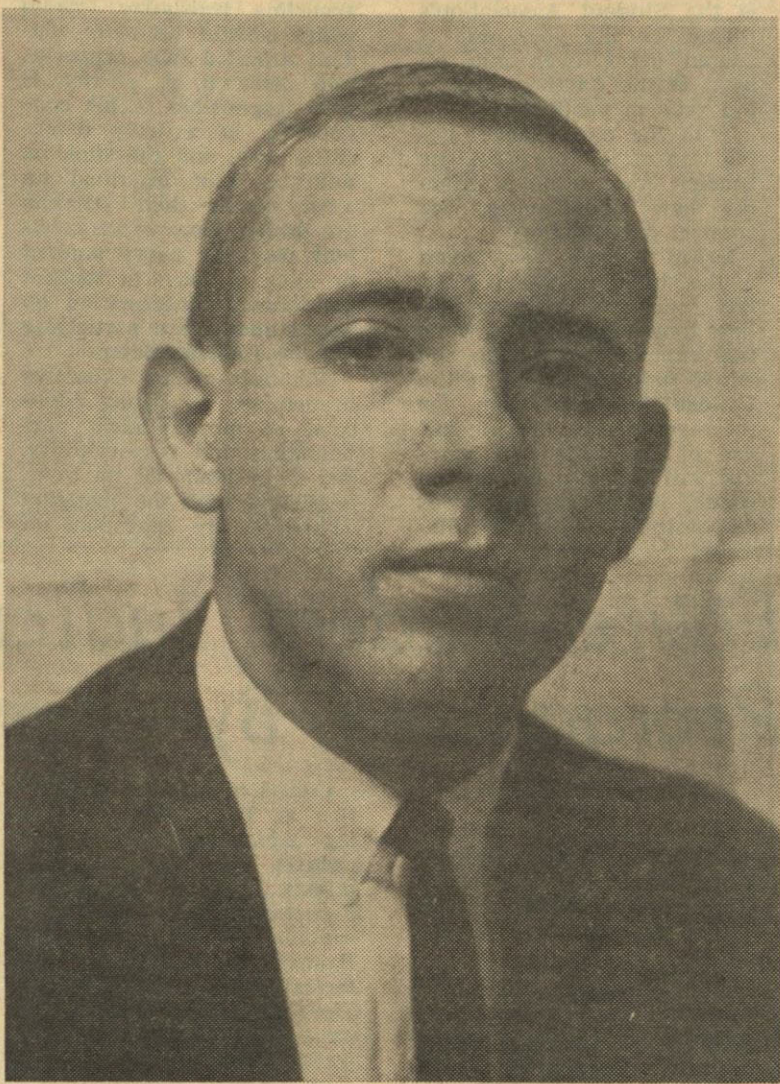

The contributions of concrete and equipment were made by interested people in El Paso.

The plans for the new M were completed early in the summer with the approval of TW President Joseph M. Ray, Dean of Students Clyde Kelsey and all student organizations.

Steve Rosenfeld, chairman of M Day is responsible for most of the preparatory work done so far. Plans are to have the M completely finished by November 6.

The second phase of "M Day" will be a hamburger lunch at 12:30 p.m. with all the trimmings held at the upper end of the practice field. The lunch will be given to the freshmen with the compliments of the Student Association.

The final phase of "M Day" will be the football game between North Texas and Texas Western College at 8 p. m. in the Sun Bowl Stadium.

SA President Outlines Plans

On behalf of the SA, I welcome you to what we hope with your help and support, will be the finest year for both the students and our growing institution. Many changes affecting entertainment, student government, and related fields need to be explained for everyone's benefit.

To begin, it's necessary to discuss entertainment in relation to finances. During the last session of the Texas Legislature, a Student Service Fee increase of $3.50 was approved. This means that students will now be paying $26 per semester rather than the previous $22.50. Since the Student Association budget comes from Student Service Fee, a logical question might be, "Is there an increase for the SA budget?" The answer is no—your SA has not received any additional funds because of this raise. When considering our program to bring bigger and better entertainment to TWC, we must consider the financial aspects.

Unlike past years, we will try to present at least one program each month. To start this year, the "Lettermen" will perform in Memorial Gym on October 16 and the Serendipity Singers will follow on November 30 with their concert. In order to finance the increased entertainment, it will be necessary to charge a slight admission fee. As long as we, the students, are willing to cooperate in this endeavor, we will continue to have good programs. However, if the students are not willing to support the SA's entertainment plans, the SA will have no other recourse than to curtail many of our future plans for entertainment.

In addition to the Student Association's plans to bring better entertainment this year, we are also trying to promote the college on a state-wide and nationwide basis. TWC is a member of the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association, an organization which promotes and strives to strengthen ties between Texas colleges and universities. In past years we have promoted a splendid image of our institution and I can assure our students that TWC is well known throughout the state as a young energetic institution striving to obtain university status.

The burden of proving ourselves worthy of university status rests with you and me and the image that we project of the College. This image comes out in our relations with other institutions and that is why it is so important that we play an active role in State and National Student Organizations.

Keeping all this in mind, you can see why your Student Association needs your help. We especially need students who worked in student government in high school or at other colleges. New ideas and faces help mold and refresh our outlook and insure progress. If you have any desire to participate and be a part of your student association, please come by SUB 302 any time.

Library Procedures, New Services Outlined

By CONNIE JO LOEWENSTEIN

New and old students will find a welcome addition to the TWC Library this year in Mrs. Bernice LeMense Reader's Adviser. Mrs. LeMense can be found at her new desk just inside the main entrance.

Her duties include showing students how to use any of the library facilities, helping locate a particular book, or helping the student decide which book or books would contain the material needed (especially helpful for research papers).

INTER-LIBRARY LOAN

If the student finds he needs a book or books not found in the TWC Library, he should see Mrs. Margaret Salcedo, in the librarian's office, first floor, about obtaining them through inter-library loan.

Inter-library loan is a service designed especially to aid graduate students or faculty in detailed research. However, undergraduates can avail themselves of the facilities when necessary.

Popular books or any book now in print (a book which could easily be purchased in a book store or ordered from a publisher) will not be ordered through inter-library loan. The library would also prefer to order magazine articles through photo copies if they are not too long (over 50 pages).

When requesting inter-library loan the student must give all exact reference information, including author, title, date of publication, and publisher.

XEROX AVAILABLE

Another welcome service, although not quite so new, is the Xerox copier located in the main entrance lobby. Students are free to use the Xerox at any time to copy reference material which cannot be taken from the Library or for other copying needs. Operating instructions are posted on the machine. Copies cost the student five cents a page.

Most reference materials, including bibliographies, various abstracts, over 21 different sets of encyclopedias, various fact almanacs and others are to be found in the upstairs reading room. Students needing assistance with reference materials should see Mrs. Yvonne Greer, reference librarian, or one of the student assistants in her office, located to the far right at the top of the stairs.

READER'S GUIDE, PERIODICALS

Reader's Guide (another helpful item for research papers on contemporary subjects) is located at the right end of the main reading room. The Reader's Guide lists articles in current periodicals by author, title and subject. Nearly every current publication, including technical journals from all fields, are listed.

Periodicals Librarian Frank Scott is found in the center of the reading room level. Students wishing magazines not on the shelves must fill out a request slip at the desk and give it to one of the assistants. They will get the issues requested from the stacks.

Various newspapers and books are on micro-film or micro-cards. These must be asked for at the periodicals desk.

CATALOG FILE

Catalog cards, found to the left of the main entrance, are filed alphabetically under three headings, author, title and subject. This enables the student to find the book he wants by knowing either of these three items. Students should write down the exact call number from the card for easier location of the desired book in the stacks.

A poster showing the classifications of books on each level is posted at the main lobby stairway and on each level at the stairwell.

Records for student use are found in the basement. Catalog cards for these records are filed in the same room, next to the study carrels.

STUDY CARRELS

Students may use the study carrels (small private rooms with a desk and a chair) at any time. Keys to the rooms are obtained at the circulation desk. The student's library card must be left with the circulation desk while in the carrell.

Books of special interest to the reader of the Southwest can be found in the John H. McNeely special collection. There are also some rare copies and reserve materials in this collection. All books were donated by Dr. J. H. McNeely of the TWC History Department.

There are also a special children's collection and an art collection in the reserve room to the right of the main lobby.

Library cards may be obtained by anyone by asking at the circulation desk. The student's card number should be written on all book cards when checking out a book.

FINES, LOST BOOKS

Fines are assessed on overdue books at the rate of ten cents per day. Overnight books (those which must be in by 9 a. m. the next day) are charged at 50 cents for the first hour and 10 cents for each additional hour. All fines over 50 cents are reported to the business office and semester grades will not be issued until they are paid. If a book is lost, the student should report it at once so that the fines will not be continued. If the book is not found by the end of the semester it must be paid for before grades are issued. If the book is not reported as lost, the fines will continue and the student will still be required to pay for the book. All fines are paid at the Business Office.

HOURS

The Library is open from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Saturdays. During school holidays library hours are shortened. During semester exams the library stays open longer hours to accommodate students.

Baxter Polk is librarian.

College Gets New Grants

TWC has been granted $72,680 in federal loans for economically struggling students, it was announced recently by U. S. Rep. Richard White.

The loan funds will come from the Office of Education, in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare through the National Defense Education Act and will be available for the new school year.

L. Phillips Blanchard, director of Financial Aid for TWC said the college matches the federal loan funds to the amount of 10 per cent.

A student may apply for funds to pay his college education, and is not required to start repayment of the loan until one year after graduation. The repayment may be made over a 10 year program.

If a graduate decides to enter teaching, he may cancel up to 50 per cent of the loan at the rate of 10 per cent a year for each year he teaches.

Mr. Blanchard said that the federal loan funds are in the amount expected by the college for this year.

'Student Involvement' Theme Of This Year's Activities

Much—perhaps too much—has been said and written recently about the college student's responsibility to be well-informed, to be actively interested in the affairs of his college and community.

"Student Involvement" is the Student Association's theme for the year, and it should carry over into all parts of the Campus. This is the year to participate.

With the new changes going into effect this year, the Student Association is offering new opportunities for student participation.

Broad powers were given to the student supreme court last year, and the nine justices have been hard at work this summer reorganizing the entire judicial system of the College in preparation for the regular term. Making full use of the additional powers will place much of the responsibility for student discipline on the students themselves rather than administration officials or faculty members.

Last year's election of student senators certainly paved the way for a more responsible legislative system which should be more student oriented than organization oriented. A senator is now responsible to his constituents in a truly democratic way, and the students will be kept informed on what action their senators are taking. Here is an excellent way for every student to have a voice in student government. Information on how students can participate will be available later.

Members of the executive branch are all strong advocates of more student participation and responsibility, and many plans for the year, beginning with the changing of the M, are dependent on student work.

The Student Activities Board, through its committee system, gives opportunities to students with varied talents to participate in many Campus activities.

Another important means of student participation is student publications. Students can submit articles, essays, poetry, etc. to El Burro, Campus magazine; and those interested in bringing their suggestions or criticisms before the student body have Letters to the Editor column in The Prospector as a handy means.

In addition, there are numerous organizations on Campus which offer a variety of interests and projects.

The opportunities are present—it's up to the students to take advantage of them.

Texas Western may not be the scene of a gigantic civil rights protest or a pacifist parade, but students can and

"M" Tradition Change Has Many Good Points

ON SEPTEMBER 18 a new tradition will formally be born at Texas Western College.

On this date, the traditional "M Day" festivities will be held with an importance difference—the M has been transferred to the north end of the Sun Bowl.

Although many will probably complain "another tradition has just bitten the dust," the change will be to the advantage of the College in the long run.

The change was being contemplated at the end of last year by Student Association officers, and plans progressed throughout the summer. Next week the freshmen will climb the new mountain to prepare for the final concretizing and lighting, and the traditional whitewashing of the M will continue into the future.

In the past few years, whitewashing the M has presented many difficulties, according to Fred Craft, SA president.

ONE OF THE MAIN PROBLEMS was one of expense.

Buses had to be provided to bring the students to the spot, in addition to the expense and transportation costs of the whitewash, equipment, water, etc. The money that will be saved in the next few years will probably take care of the cost of building and maintaining the new, permanent M.

Another consideration in moving the M was the fact that the M could not even be seen from the Campus. Its position among the high school letters was also not to TW's advantage. People would invariably ask what high school the M represented, and the title "high school on the hill" was perpetuated.

Another problem was the difficulty in maintaining the M. A maintenance road for KERP runs across the face of the letter which mars any beauty it has, and by the end of the year, the letter often looks rather sad beside the high school letters.

MOVING THE "M" is to the advantage of the College, and we support the SA's action, not only because it will eliminate many of the problems but also because it should contribute to school spirit.

Then last year's difficulties and postponements pointed up the fact that a change was needed.

While we favor the new M, there is still the problem of the old letter. Something definite should be done soon, in one of two directions.

One suggestion is that the engineers, who started the tradition, take the responsibility for maintaining the M on the Franklin Mountains.

If the engineers or another group does not wish to take care of the letter, then the M should be completely obliterated. It should not be allowed to slowly wear away, giving a bad impression of the College.

Action must be taken soon.

Entire Student Judicial System Reorganized By Supreme Court

By JOSEPH RICE

During the past summer, nine Texas Western College students met for bi-weekly study sessions which ranged two to five hours in length.

The sessions were not for credit; no grades were given. Yet, attendance was consistently high, averaging seven to nine persons for each meeting.

At the sessions, mounds of papers were read, discussed, researched, outlined, argued over, and fitted into relationships with papers of the same genre: legal.

The result is that the nine-member Student Supreme Court constructed, for the first time in Student Association history, a coordinated judicial system with well-defined jurisdictions, original and appellate, and appropriate penalties.

Previous to this year, there have been no constitutionally valid minor courts, i. e. the SA Constitution: "All judicial powers shall be vested in a Student Supreme Court and such inferior courts as may be established by the Student Supreme Court with the approval of the Student Senate." (Article IV, section one).

Until this year, the Student Supreme Court has not duly recognized any minor court. That is why a thorough investigation of each Campus court was conducted during the summer.

What now remains is for the minor courts to rewrite their judicial procedures to conform with criteria established by the Student Supreme Court.

The procedures must be submitted to the Court by October 8; approval then also must come by a two-thirds vote of the Student Senate.

As guidelines, sample procedures for each minor court have been prepared. These may be changed in any manner so long as they contain: right of defendant appeal to the Student Supreme Court; powers suited the authority of a minor court; jurisdiction extending not beyond authority granted by the SA Constitution; and compliance with SA Constitution rules and regulations.

Courts of original jurisdiction at Texas Western College which sent sample procedures are: Women's dormitory councils, judicial branches; Men's dormitory councils, judicial branches; Panhellenic Court; and Interfraternity Council Court. The Campus Police office has original jurisdiction over traffic violations.

The Supreme Court is the only court of appeals.

Its jurisdiction includes final decision on SA Constitution interpretation.

The Supreme Court also has jurisdiction over, unless a case initiates under the authority of a minor court, the following: scholastic dishonesty; traffic violations; improper use of alcohol; gambling; student misconduct; misuses of Student Association privileges; and failure to respond to a summons of the court.

The Faculty Committee on Discipline, which delegated these powers to the Student Supreme Court, retains the right to review all cases involving scholastic dishonesty.

Student Supreme Court penalties which may be imposed are: moral suasion; probation, social and disciplinary; suspension of rights to receive honors and to hold student office; revocation of parking privileges for a period up to 120 days; mandatory registration of an automobile; revocation of Student Association privileges for a period up to 120 days; recommendation to the Faculty Committee on Discipline of suspension from the College, and recommendation of the period of time for that suspension.

This year's court members all are seniors, and were selected to their positions on the basis of scholastic and social contributions to the college community.

Members of the court are Green Miller, chief justice; Amy Jones, assistant chief justice; Joseph Rice, John Blazier, Steve Saltzman, Ken Calabrese, Maria Acevedo, Beatriz Garcia and Barbara Bendalin.

(Editor's note: This is the first of a three part series explaining the changes and operation of the three branches of the student government).

Centrex Telephone System Increases Campus Service

Texas Western is now enjoying relief from one of its growing pains, a shortage of Campus telephones.

The Centrex System went into operation September 1 and will increase the College's telephone capacity by nearly three times, providing private numbers for every extension and linking TWC closer to the community.

The new system promises to be a money saver as well, according to Harry E. Gerecke, assistant business manager for the College.

Texas Western has outgrown the old campus switchboard, Gerecke said, and new switchboards and trunks would have been needed to expand the telephone capacity beyond its limit of 365. New switchboards would have resulted in the need for more operators.

The Centrex system, installed by the Mountain States Telephone Company, increases the telephone capacity to 1,000. It will speed service to the public and permit one operator to handle more calls. Moreover, equipment costs will be borne by the telephone company instead of the College.

Although every telephone will have its private number, only administrative numbers will be listed in the city directory. Individuals should notify callers of new numbers at once in order to avoid a jam at the switchboards, calling for information, Mr. Gerecke advised.

One result of the new system is that dormitory residents may have private phones in their rooms.

College operators will not give numbers for dormitory students, Gerecke said, but will refer the caller to the dormitory director.

Gerecke explained that the telephone company will supply two operators to transfer calls which come in to the old College number. Additionally, he said, the College will employ three duty operators to handle calls coming to the old number, and to transfer to individual telephones those calls made through the new general college number.

Dormitory residents who wish to have phones in their rooms may apply at the time they make room reservations, or when paying dorm fees. Students who share a room will share the per semester charge for phone service.

Three Cadets Awarded ROTC Scholarships

Cadets Gerald N. Edgar II, Samuel A. Simon and David D. Thompson Jr. are three of 600 students who have been selected to receive the first two-year Reserve Officer Training Corps Scholarships ever to be given by the Army.

The Awards are being made to outstanding ROTC cadets who will enter their junior year of college this fall. Each scholarship will pay for tuition, textbooks and fees and will provide the recipient with an allowance of $50 a month for the duration of his scholarship.

The cadets were nominated for the scholarship by the Professor of Military Science and college officials at TWC on the basis of their academic and extracurricular record and performance during their first two years of ROTC. Interviews by Army officers and faculty members determined that they were highly motivated toward a career as Army officers.

The scholarships are the first to be awarded to students in the Army ROTC Program, which provides approximately 85 per cent of the new officers entering the Army each year. This is approximately twenty times the number of officers commissioned at West Point annually.

Gerald Edgar is the son of Major Gerald Edgar (Ret) who resides at 1401 First St. in El Paso. Cadet Major Edgar, a Math Major at TWC, has completed four semesters of basic Military Science with a "B" average, maintained high academic standing, received no demerits—was awarded the "Military Excellence Ribbon" spring semester 1965. Edgar was a member of the Bel Air Key Club and Math Club.

Samuel Simon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Simon who resides at 4023 Las Vegas St. in El Paso. Cadet Simon was awarded the "Texas Society, Sons Of The American Revolution Medal" during his freshman year, was also awarded the "Military Excellence Ribbon" spring semester 1965. Simon is a member of Sigma Alpha Mu, Orange Key, chairman of committee on the needs of TWC, election committee and Hillel.

Cadet David Thompson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson Sr. who resides at 9905 Camwood Drive in El Paso. Cadet Thompson is a history major at TWC, has completed four semesters of MS with a "B" average, maintained high academic standing, received no demerits—was awarded the "Military Excellence Ribbon" spring semester 1965. David is a member of Pershing Rifles, National Honorary ROTC Fraternity.

Major Campus Traffic Rules Changes Made

There have been several major changes in the traffic regulations on Campus.

One of the most important is that a student must have his current parking permit properly displayed in the lower left corner of his windshield.

Freshmen or sophomore students who reside off-campus, will be limited to parking their vehicles in the designated "Area No. 3" or available space outside the 20-mile-per-hour speed zones. New this year is the regulation that after 5 p.m. daily, freshman and sophomore students will be permitted the same on-Campus parking privileges as upperclassmen.

College Publishes Big Bend Stories

"Stories From the Big Bend" by pioneer O. W. Williams is the title of the latest issue of Southwestern Studies, Monograph No. 10 published by the Texas Western College Press.

It recounts stories and folklore told the author by the natives of Big Bend.

Mr. Williams, a Harvard graduate, came to Texas Western and spent 1901-02 as a surveyor in the Big Bend and became county judge of Pecos County.

The issue was edited and annotated by S. D. Myres, chairman of the editorial board of the publication.

All two wheel vehicles must be parked in the areas designated and no exception will be made. This means all motorcycles, motorbikes and motorscooters.

Students must have a serious handicap before they will be granted special parking privileges.

Student cars parked in spaces allotted to visitors, handicapped, post office and firelanes will be automatically towed away and subject to fines.

Drama And Speech Appointments Told

Two new faculty appointments in the Department of Drama and Speech have been announced by President Joseph M. Ray. They are Dr. Ralph B. Culp, associate professor, and Dr. Theodore O. Windt Jr., assistant professor.
