Dr. Past Will Be Director For Language Institute

By Jeanne Todaro

Texas Western College will now have its "new Institute in English as a Second Language" from June 1 to August 1966. This is due to the direction of Dr. Ray Past, professor of English at TWC.

Dr. Past will be in cooperation with the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization and the National Defense Education Act.

Dr. Past said that the purpose of the Institute is "to increase the effectiveness of elementary school teachers of children whose native language is not English, with particular focus on Spanish speaking children."

KINDERGARTEN

The Institute is open to teachers of children from kindergarten through the third grade in both public and private schools. Because of the emphasis on Spanish speakers, most of the 40 participants will be from the New Mexico-Texas area; however, 10 participants will be chosen from other areas.

Participants will be required to complete their course during the summer. They will be paid $75 a week plus $15 a day for each dependent while attending the Institute.

STAFF MEMBERS

Staff members will include Dr. Past as director, and instructors James G. Jenden, a Corps volunteer who trained at Texas Western College; Benito Rodriguez, a teacher at Bowie High School; Rolf N. Nielsen, a teacher in the public schools in Chihuahua in Mexico who is teaching at Texas Western; John Sharp, professor of Modern Language at the University of Texas; Dr. Dolph Coltharp, associate professor of English at TWC.

In addition to the regular staff, experts in the fields of linguistics and teaching English as a second language will speak during the Institute (Continued on Page 3).

Engineers Set Open House

The TWC School of Engineering in cooperation with the Texas Society of Professional Engineers will observe National Engineers Week from February 20 to 26, with an open house set for Friday, February 24, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The open house activities will open with a reception for area high school students and their parents at noon. A general open house will be held for students and their parents, faculty and interested parties beginning at 2:30 p.m. Guidance counselors attending the open house and engineering facilities will be conducted by the students.

Hosts for the open house will be the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Society of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers. Co-hosts will be the individual engineering departments on campus.

The highlight of the week will be a banquet at which Ei Pinto's "Totten of the Year" will be named.

Enrollment Reaches 7,171

As figures continue to come in from Texas Western enrollment stands at 7,171 as of Tuesday afternoon.

This compares to a final enrollment of 6,508 for the same time last year and a count of 7,427 for last semester.

Creation To Include 25 Mexican Students

Prof. Lynn T. Thayer, coordinator for the Inter-Faith Choir of some 50 voices which will present Haydn's "The Creation" on February 22, says the choir will have an international character since plans have been formulated to include members from the Instituto de la Universidad of Ciudad Juarez, Chih., Mexico.

The program will be presented under the direction of a world-famous church musician, Dr. Neel I. was commissioned to create the work. The choir will feature scenes throughout the choral program. The program will be accompanied by a full orchestra composed of Texas Western and college instrumentalists.

Dean Christopher To Discuss Law

Dean Thomas W. Christopher, of the University of New Mexico School of Law, will be on Campus February 14 to discuss the study of law at his school.

The Law School has meet at 7 p.m. in SUN 306 to outline financing and the American Bar Association. The University of New Mexico College of Law is a career will also be answered. Inscribed copies of the book will be held with Dean Christopher following the meeting if so desired. Interested pre-law students may obtain further information from Joseph Swaim, director of the Government Department.

Best In The U.S.? SI Says "Maybe"

Would it be absurd to believe that the undefeated, sixth-ranked Miners could win the national basketball championship?

Joe Jares, a Sports Illustrated staff writer who was working on an article about Texas Western, doesn't think it's absurd.

"I wouldn't be surprised if Texas Western took the national title," Mr. Jares said with pessimistic optimism. "I'm not predicting that they will, but just saying that I wouldn't be shocked if they did."

In an interview during halftime of the West Texas-Miner game Monday night at the 99-69 win over the El Paso Christian School. The Miners extended win streak to 15 games with their 104-78 trouncing of rival New Mexico State Tuesday night. Coach Don Haskins' hardwoods are ranked sixth in the nation by both UPI and AP polls and will be featured in a special article in Sports Illustrated this week. (Photo by Lee Cain)

CSU, Arizona To Challenge
Miner Win Streak, Ranking

The sixth-ranked Texas West- ern Miners, 15-6 for the season, tangle with Colorado State's Rams tonight at Ft. Collins. The Golden Rams have all-American candidate Lonnie Wright (6-2) and guard Tom Vidakovich (6-11) that add speed and shooting firepower. State suffered a 62-50 pasting last night at the hands of the Bears. And the Rams haven't forgotten that, "ONE OF THE BEST..." The Miners were then in­vade Minerstedt on February 10 with four of their five starters at 6-4 or more. The Cats will have a formidable record with conquests of such traditional powers as San Diego State, Stanford, Memphis State, and South­ern Illinois (the first-ranked small college team). Said assistant coach Moe Iba, "Arizona will be one of the best teams we've played this year." The Wildcats play ball control and utilize a man-to-man de­fense. They are a good rebound­ing ball club with junior Mel Aboud (6-4, 203 lbs.), and sen­ior Harvey Fox (6-4, 203 lbs.). Bob Hanson (6-6, 223 lbs.), and Ted Parkert (6-6, 190 lbs.) all rotating inside. Bob Spahn (6-1, 160 lbs.) is a tough, agile guard with good speed and a definite outside threat. So, far, Arizona leads in the series, 44-17.

Although Mr. Caldwell is the representative for all Department of Defense agencies offer­ing job opportunities in the prof­essional accounting field, his visit will not be for the purpose of recruiting. He will visit the Campus later in the year to con­duct personal interviews.

Mr. Caldwell, who has had a varied background in the govern­ment, has had his own accounting practice in San Diego. He is a tough, agile guard president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Caldwell took up football and亩 accounting when he entered the U. S. General Accounting Office.

Unlit Wire Fence Presents Traffic Hazard

The wire fence placed around the construction area of the new physical sciences-mathematics building on Campus has been a nuisance and traffic hazard from the very first.

The fence has not had any form of lighting and no move was made to adjust the situation until reports of an accident were given to J. R. Francis, contractor.

Despite promises of "six or seven reflectors" to cover the wire fence that has been erected down Hawthorne Street behind the proposed building, to enclose the wire fence that has been put in to make, so our own set up is no different.

To any kid who'd like to leave home:

We'll pay half your fare.

The idea's not as crazy as it may seem. Anytime we take a jet up, there are almost always leftover seats. So it occurred to us that we might be able to fill a few of them, if we gave the young people a break on the fare, and a chance to see the country.

The American Youth Plan

We call the idea the American Youth Plan, and what it means is this:

American will pay half the jet coach fare for anybody 12 through 21. It's that simple. All you have to do is prove your age (a birth certificate or any other legal document will do) and buy a $3 identification card.

We date and stamp the card, and this entitles you to a half-fare ticket at any American Airlines counter.

The only catch is that you might have to wait before you get aboard; the fare is on a standby basis.

"Standby" simply means that the passengers with reservations and the servicemen get on before you do.

Then the plane's yours.

The American Youth Plan is good year round except for a few days before and after the Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas rushes.

If you can't think of any places you'd like to go offhand, you might see a travel agent for a few suggestions.

We can't add anything else. Other than it's a marvelous opportunity to just take off.

Complete this coupon—include your $3.
(Do not send proof of age—it is not needed until you have your ID validated.)

In addition to your ID card, we'll also send you a free copy of AA's Go Go American with $50 worth of discount coupons.

Campus Growth
To Be Examined

In 1914, Texas Western (then College of Mines) was described as a "College among the rocks." Today, 51 years later, that Campus of three buildings situated on a rocky slope has grown to be one of over 12 buildings which provide education to nearly 4,000 students. As this growth has increased at an unprecedented rate, making it necessary to plan Campus development years in advance.

Recently Dr. Joseph M. Ray, President of the College, conferred with an advance group of architectural consultants for the University of Texas system who will be conducting a master plan study which will provide for an orderly development of Texas Western College.

The principal study committee is expected to arrive at Texas Western in 10 to 20 days, said Oscar McMahon, chairman of the TWC Campus Building (and Planning Committee). "This group of consultants, representatives of an Austin architectural firm, Brooks, Barr, Graeber and White, consultants for the University of Texas, will set up an office on Campus and conduct a study of the needs of the College 10 years from now. The study will be a continuing one." Before their arrival, the master plan study representatives will send questionnaires to various persons on Campus to get a good insight of the building needs and the future growth of the structure and function of Texas Western.

Upon their arrival, the study consultants will interview the various department heads, the deans, the Student President, the Student Senate, fraternal sororities and other Campus organizations.

In addition to Campus personnel, the consultants will interview State Highway department planners, City planners, members of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce and other local personnel. Approximately 50 persons will be interviewed to help formulate future plans for Texas Western.

From the various interviews, the master plan study consultants will determine the traffic needs for both motorists and pedestrians, long range projects of student enrollment and growth of curriculum and the future construction, financing and location of buildings. The consultants will also determine the direction of growth of the College Campus.

TWC Radio-TV
Updates Equipment

By ED JASUTA

After finals and before Spring registration, when most students were taking advantage of two weeks away from the mill, students of Radio-TV were shaping improvements to update equipment of KVOP-FM and TWC-TV, broadcast facilities of the Radio-TV Department.

When last year's TWC concert music series was inaugurated on KVOP-FM it became quickly apparent that new and more versatile recording facilities were required. Two new Magnavox 1021 tape recorders were installed to complete one of the most sophisticated recording studios in El Paso.

KVOP-FM can now make high fidelity recordings of anything from the many birds that reside in the park behind Kelly Hall, to a 20-piece mutual ensemble.

Radio was not the only facility to get a face-lifting. TWC-TV, Skyrider's Club of the Hilton Inn, and the SAB Chamber of Commerce and other minor additions, one of which was a custom designed audio distribution control. Installed during semester break, the new audio control virtually quadruples older capabilities.

Looking forward to future expansion, the new audio system is capable of feeding four separate audio signals simultaneously to four different points on Campus and will meet the expanding demands being placed on the educational services of TWC-TV.

When completed this spring, the $8,000 expansion will offer unlimited opportunities to TWC-TV.

Rifle Meet Open To High School Teams

The Seventeenth Annual Southwestern Invitational Small Bore Rifle Meet will be held on the weekend of March 4-5. This meet is open to any club or individual of any age, as long as the group has not participated in a recent area high school competition.

All area high schools having junior ROTC or NCC units are invited to participate, including Alamogordo High School, and those local schools from New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, New Mexico.

Through this year's change in concept it is hoped to promote rifle marksmanship at the high school and to encourage area high school graduates to attend Texas Western College and participate in rifle marksmanship at the college level. Texas Western College has two outstanding ROTC Small Bore Rifle Teams, who participate in local Del Norte League competitions, as well as other college level meets in Texas and Oklahoma.

Col. Leon F. Lavoie, professor of military science at Texas Western College, has designated Maj. John H. Woodyard as Tournament Officer. In commenting on this year's change in concept of the rifle meet, Col. Lavoie stated that, "while former Southwest Invitationalists were very successful in attracting college level teams from all over the country, this year's concept to develop more local enthusiasm and help promote and reward rifle marksmanship competition in the immediate area of El Paso." Valentine’s Day Customs Carried On—World-Wide

By ROSARIO MARINI

Dreaded St. Valentine's Day—loved as a holiday of sweets—St. Valentine's Day—hated as a holiday of wolves, birds, and a saint!

It seems that about this time of year, during the Roman country week, when the Roman country week was running, and that the destroyer of wolves was held in honor. And it seems that the old Roman had a map of February called the Lupercale, in honor of Lupercus.

At this festival it was customary for the young people to draw lots for partners for the day itself.

There was also an old European belief that on February 14th the young people would wear an apple or orange, would steal quietly up to the home of his sweetheart and toss it through the window or open door.

Little children used to go about singing of St. Valentine and collecting small gifts. Also it was customary to place valentines on friends’ doorsteps.

Nowadays we are glad that the spirit of good St. Valentine is still prevalent. And no doubt, many a lucky person has beenもあります.

Another custom was for the young people to get up before sunrise and go out to try to snare an owl and two sparrows. If they succeeded it was a good omen. When they returned home, their neighbors would give them presents. They were lucky people all the rest of the year.

In England, the holiday has been observed for centuries, and various customs grew up around it.

A custom was that on this day five leaves pinned to the pillow in a neat pattern guaranteed dreams of one’s sweetheart.

Names written on paper, wrapped in clay and dropped in water would sink—except the name of one’s true love, which would rise to the surface.

Another custom was for the young people to get up before sunrise and go out to try to catch an owl and two sparrows. If they succeeded it was a good omen. When they returned home, their neighbors would give them presents. They were lucky people all the rest of the year.

WRITING NOTES

In some places, the suitor would write his valentine note, and, fastening it to an apple or orange, would steal quietly up to the home of his sweetheart and toss it through the window or open door.

Little children used to go about singing of St. Valentine and collecting small gifts. Also it was customary to place valentines on friends’ doorsteps.

Nowadays we are glad that the spirit of good St. Valentine is still prevalent. And no doubt, many a lucky person has been blessed.

Another custom was for the young people to get up before sunrise and go out to try to catch an owl and two sparrows. If they succeeded it was a good omen. When they returned home, their neighbors would give them presents. They were lucky people all the rest of the year.

HOLIDAYS CHANGE

When Rome became a Christian country, the most favored Roman holidays were kept as Christian holidays, changing their names and their meanings.

The holiday on February 14th was retained, except that the name was changed from Lupercalia, held in honor of Lupercus, to Saint Valentine’s Day, held in honor of a Christian martyr who was beheaded by Emperor Claudius in the year 270 AD.

Legend says that white Valentine was in prison. He fell in love with a Christian’s daughter and wrote her letters, signed “From Your Valentine.”

So gradually as time passed, this Christian holiday became a time for exchanging love messages, and St. Valentine emerged as the patron saint of lovers.

DRAWING NAMES

The old custom of drawing names for lovers on St. Valentine’s Day continued in England and some parts of the Continent. When a young man drew a girl’s name, she wore it on his sleeve, and at length danced and protected her during the following year. Thus she became his valentine, and they exchanged love tokens.

New Group To Raise Discussion

A new student organization is being formed at the TWC Campus, known as the Student Action Committee on Foreign Policy. It is for those students who are interested and genuinely concerned with the direction of the American foreign policy.

The committee was originally urged by a small group of students who are known as opposing the war in Viet Nam. Ken Johleberg, temporary vice-president of the group, said that the purpose of the organization is to stimulate debate and discussion on American foreign policy. Its main concern is to provide a means through which college students can express and defend their political position.

The committee has a greater awareness of the present political scene and to provide some means by which the members of the committee can hold a series of examinations into all aspects of American foreign policy. The activities of the group consist of guest speakers, films, forums, debates and presentations of researched topics for students.

The first meeting of the Committee will be held in the SUB at a date soon to be announced to any student having views on the subject which would be welcomed.

Miners' National Recognition Wins Favorable Comments

By RILEY HALL

There are many advantages to a school team being one of the top ten teams in the nation by the Associated Press poll and others at the same time remains undecided. It helps you with your recruiting effort of players for the team to come and it brings in revenue. But one needs to be rewarded by national publicity—something that can't be bought.

Just to give you an idea of the feeling in the states across the country about our Miners, we are going to reprint some of the letters that have been written by wire services, newspapers, and others.

ASSOCIATED PRESS:
Texas Western, a tremendous basketball team, is a berth in either the NCAA or the NIT come tournament time in March.

BY JOE GILMARTIN OF THE PHOENIX GAZETTE:
Yesterday the impression was that Texas Western's unbeaten basketball team hadn't really been tested yet. Today the most impressive thing about Texas Western's basketball team is that it still hasn't been tested.

Intramural Schedule

Intramural basketball got off to a flying start this week with Burgess, BHS, winning all three games. Burgess defeated Schellenberger, 44-41, in the second game with both teams having a 25-point lead at the half. In the third game, Texas Western defeated Salve, winning 79-45. In the final game, Texas Western defeated Salve, winning 94-61.

The Associated Press poll was conducted last week with the Texas Western basketball team listed as the number one team in the nation. The Associated Press poll is conducted weekly and is considered by many to be the most accurate poll of college basketball teams.

Tallest, Smallest Laud N.Y. Cagers

By PAUL MILLER

Did you know that New York City produces the best basketball players anywhere? If you don't believe it, try discussing the matter with Willie Worsely and Nevil Shed, two of Texas Western's cage stars who won the Downtown Athletic Club poll and were named to the Associated Press all-America team.

Take, for example, Willie Worsely. He's 6' 6" tall and weighs 220 pounds. He can dunk a basketball and throw the ball 70 yards. He's also a tremendous shot, averaging 30.7 points per game. He's a great team player and has a tremendous work ethic. His teamwork skills are unmatched in the country.

The other star is Nevil Shed. He's only 5' 10" tall and weighs 190 pounds. He can dribble the ball around anyone and has a strong shooting touch. He's also an excellent passer, setting up his teammates for easy layups.

Both Worsely and Shed are consummate professionals. They work hard in practice and are always looking to improve their skills. They are both team-oriented and have a great appreciation for the game of basketball.

New York City basketball: the best in the country.
HILL, HILL, THE GANG'S ALL HERE... Bobby Joe Hill, Texas Western's speedy All-America hopeful, makes a stolon ball layup against New Mexico State. Hill scored 29 points in 18 minutes and the game as the Miners sped to a 104-78 victory. Hill hit a 3-foot jump shot with two seconds remaining to pull TWC to its 16th consecutive win of the season against Colorado State.

Miners, New Mexico Clash Before Sellout Audience

By CARLOS CALDERON

Destined to play before a rabid, sellout crowd at Albuquerque, Texas Western's fourth-rated Miners put their 18-6 record on line against the University of New Mexico this Saturday. Monday Hatchers' cagers return to comfortable Memorial Gym for a rematch with Arizona State.

Haskin's Hoopsters suffered two setbacks at the paws of the Lobos last year: 56-47 and 65-58. The last time the men in orange won was in the heyday of Jim Barnes when "Red News" hit UNM with 17 points and 21 rebounds to nip the Lobos 64-62.

That year (1962-63) a young and innocent sophomore (as all sophomores are) was the Miners' second leading scorer and number one guard. Today he is a senior and one of the Miners' most consistent starters. The man, Orren Artils, was interviewed on the upcoming tussle with New Mexico. Asked what difference it will make in playing the Lobos at Albuquerque instead of El Paso he replied, "It will not make too much difference. The home team is usually ten points ahead when the game starts, but it's still hard to say. One of their leading players, (Mel) Daniels, is hurt so will not be up to his potential. Every team we play from now on will play above their heads in order to beat us, a good example of this is Colorado State."

"JUST NOT TOGETHER..."

Artis has played three games against New Mexico and that was his reply on how he felt those three times: "As a sophomore I felt real good going into the game, that was one of my best games. And last year we played them twice, and got shellacked twice. I thought we should beat 'em both times. In the Sun Carnival Finals we were all up for the game and I thought everybody felt good. But, we were just not together."

UNM 12-4

As for UNM itself, the Lobos will have juniors Don Hoover (6-1, 172 lbs.), Ben Monroe (6-3, 218 lbs.), Mel Daniels (6-9, 214 lbs.), and Bill Morgan (6-7, 216 lbs.) starting in addition to senior Jim Patterson (6-4, 241 lbs.). The first substitute is senior Jim Howard (6-5, 180 lbs.).

New Mexico so far has a 1-2-4 record, with its losses coming against the University of Arizona, Arizona, and Arizona State.
