

CAMPUS LIFE

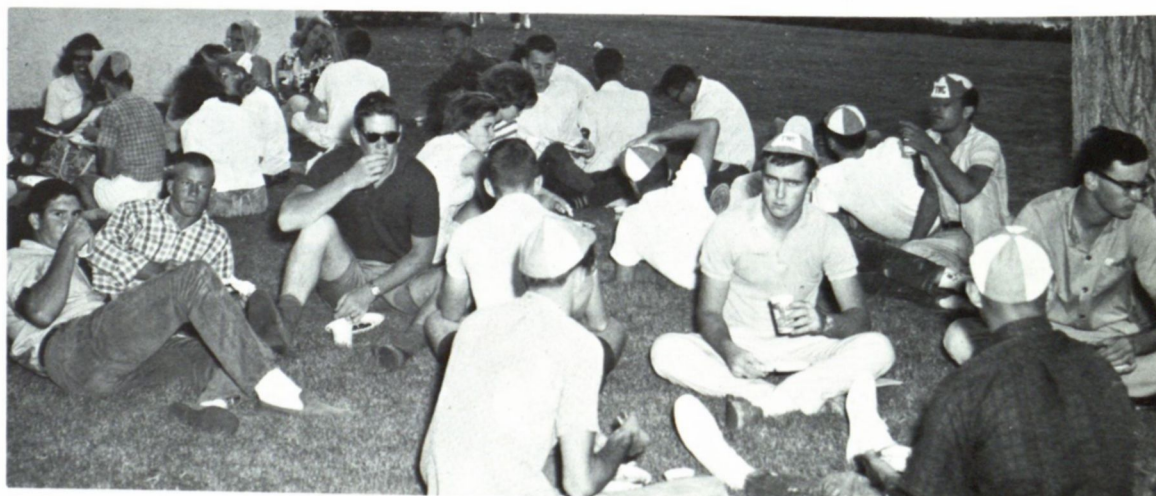

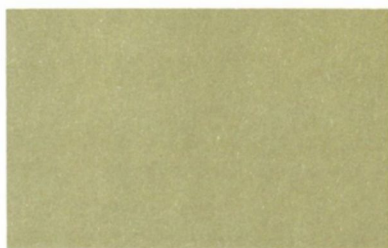

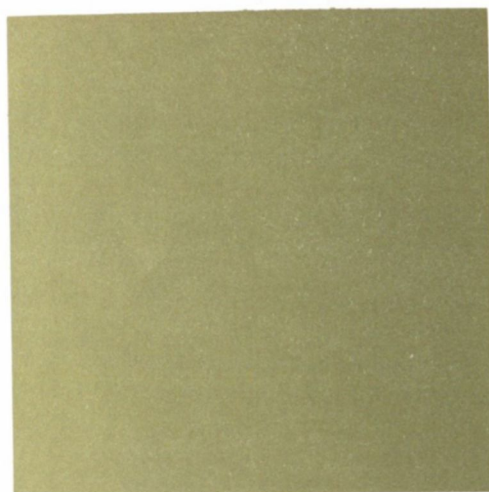

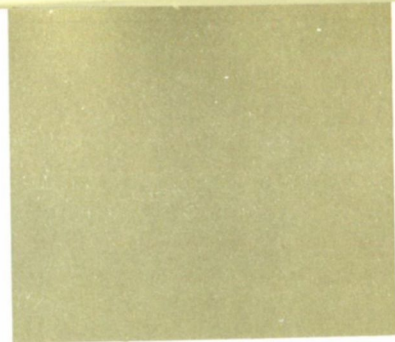

September. We greet old friends. We make new friends. We smile. We are gay. We pack sundresses away. We wear dark cottons. We stand in transcript lines, clutching a quarter all the while. We wade through registration. We watch classes close. We grab the wrong class cards. We see Dean Small. We cry for Dean Small. We stand in bookstore lines. We spend money. We spend too much money. We wear beanies. We carry buckets of whitewash. We check out the freshman ladies. We tremble through rush. We pledge. We carry paddles. We wait on actives. We go to class. We smile at the professor. We growl at the professor. We study. We play. We cheer the Miners on to victory. We sing folksongs. November. We build house decorations and floats for Homecoming. We celebrate. We park on campus. We park off campus. We collect parking tickets. We dance. We go to Coed Ball. We go to the Military Ball. We sing Christmas carols. We pray during the silence of a free-throw. February. We take part in Sing Song. We are in Variety Show. We grow beards. May. We go to the Campus Carnival. We throw sponges at pseudo-mermaids. We have fun. We laugh. We cram. We have finals. We cry. We graduate. We live.

We are the students, from 1913 to 1964—and this is our Campus Life.

*Cheerleaders teaching yells, bus rides to the mountain, freshmen lugging sacks of lye up the slope, then passing cans of whitewash to be thrown by others on the hillside letter.
This is the traditional painting of the "M."*

Bean feeds are a back to school must, for they let students meet one another and relax from the chores of unpacking, while the women students are treated to a show of campus fashions and a preview of T. W. C. cheers.

The confusion of registration, no matter what the student's experience, results in fees that are always too high, conflicting classes, general chaos, and -- alas! -- the plague of every freshman, those orange and white beanies.

Registration lasts for days, seeming never to end.

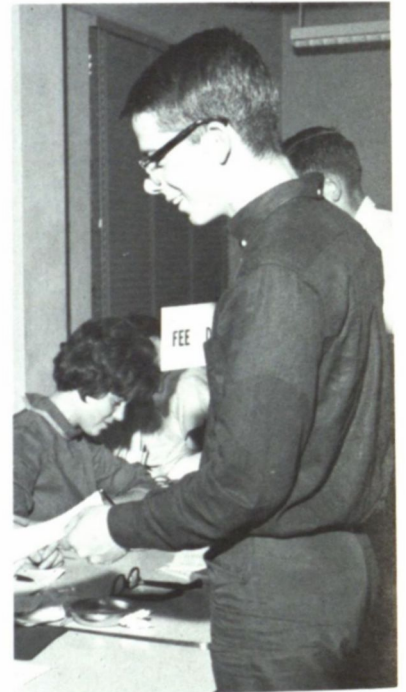

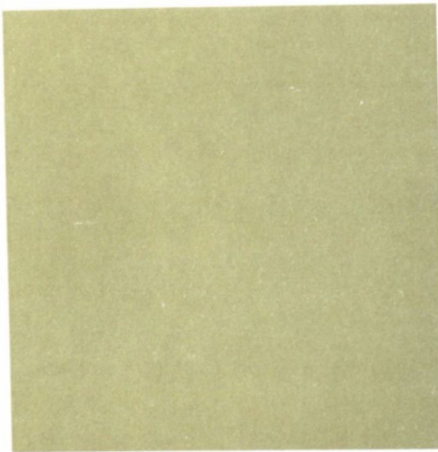

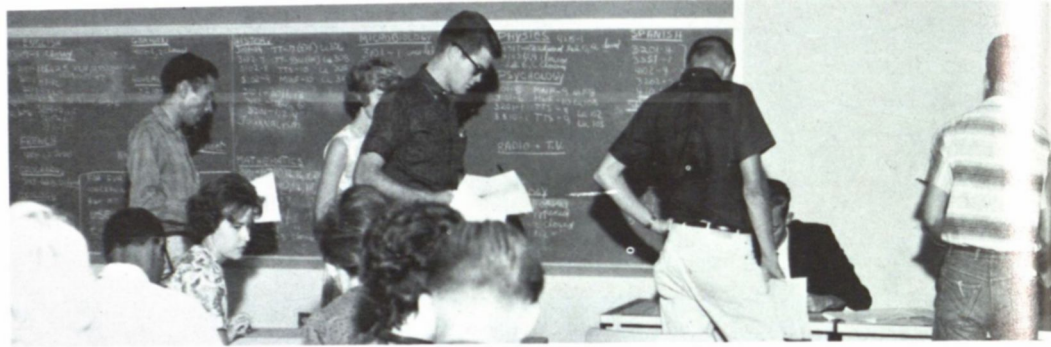

S. A. cards, class cards, resident cards, deans' cards, activity cards — until finally you're through — and can leave the building to relax in a quiet campus spot.

Rush leaves many memories to be remembered from Dean Resley's lecture to an Hawaiian Luau.

After all the fun of imitating Daisy Mae, bringing South Pacific to El Paso and enjoying the luscious food, comes the happy news of being one of the selected few.

*Meeting new friends, playing poker, dancing,
and having fun,
are just a few of the academic skills learned at Texas Western.*

It's fun being surrounded by pretty girls, introduced to important society, and danced with to all forms of flexibility.

LIBRARY
TEXAS WESTERN COLLEGE
EL PASO, TEXAS

Due to the well-working microphones, the students sang aloud with zest, and made the Hootenanny a real success.

An exciting run and a well-executed play are enjoyed in the new Sun Bowl stadium while students and fans show their spirit as the Miners attempt a victory.

Staying up late at night to work on a float produces a winning design.

Bands, Golddiggers, and trombones contribute to the Homecoming parade.

*Riding in vintage automobiles and miniature fire trucks is all a part of our Jubilee Year Homecoming Parade.
Then on to campus to see the prize winning house decorations, and the prize winners themselves.*

Football season, at Texas Western College, with its many exciting and worry filled moments, is remembered for the colorful orange and white displays of the football team, band, goldiggers, and cheerleaders.

The press-box of the new Sun Bowl stadium held many hopeful watchers each time the TWC Miners faced another opposing team.

Each of the five sororities on the Texas Western campus proudly displayed their newly acquired pledges at the Pledge Open House held in the fall.

*President Kennedy's assassination affected Texas Western students much the same way as the rest of the country.
They held a candlelight parade to honor the stricken hero.*

Cheerleaders, megaphones, and milling crowds are common football game occurrences while the Miner burro, the Goldiggers and Marching Cavalcade are TWC's own contribution to the sport.

While the Miners completed an exciting season football sweethearts, after-game dances, and homecoming preparations were the parts played by the other TWC students.

Buying books and trying on beanies are only the initial part of school, for soon there follows many long hours in the library and last minute cramming for finals.

The highlight of Greek Week was the faculty bean feed and although the lines were long, the food was good. The Greeks also collected for the United Fund, and added a generous amount to the city's fund.

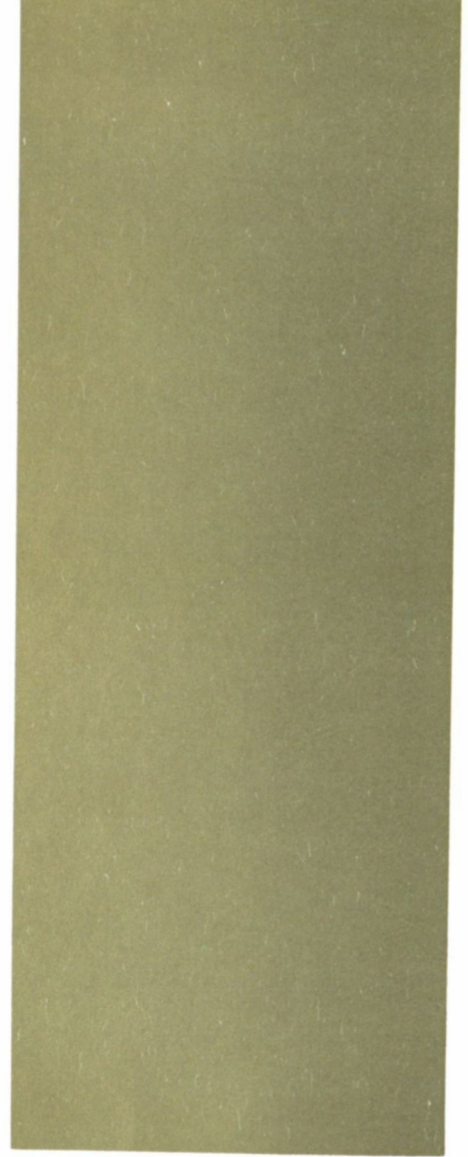

Basketball season and beauty contest time come at the same point on the calendar.

In fact, these five lovely coeds were named TWC's most beautiful girls the night that our nationally ranked team beat Wichita.

The faculty is often the host to a visiting group, so afternoon teas are a regular occurrence for them where they can relax and enjoy each other's company.

Cosmopolitan Club dances in the Sub, Borges Hall, the men's new dorm, coeds riding in an open car, pizza at Ardovino's, and luncheons honoring the intellectual elite are every day sights on the TWC campus.

The annual Sing Song sponsored by the Student Association saw grand entertainment from the college groups and Chi Omega sorority

as the Sweepstakes winner.

*Fun in the sun,
Fun in the water, and Fun watching the pretty girls highlight the activities on All TWC Day held each spring.*

Pretty Toni Wiggs was crowned queen of the annual summer school dance amidst colorful crepe paper streamers and resounding trumpets.

At Texas Western College there is a sharp contrast of interests among the students. Here the judoka and the cowboy meet and mingle. The Orient and the Southwest come together.

The football game, with the cheerleaders, the Golddiggers, and the band, presents the true spirit of Texas Western College.
