College Players is a drama organization which presents all college plays. As a part of the college curriculum, members earn one hour credit per semester for participation. In these pictures, students are preparing "The Wonderful Tang," the annual children's play.

Beatrice Ramirez, Bill Nunn and Richard Southern discuss the Chinese problem.

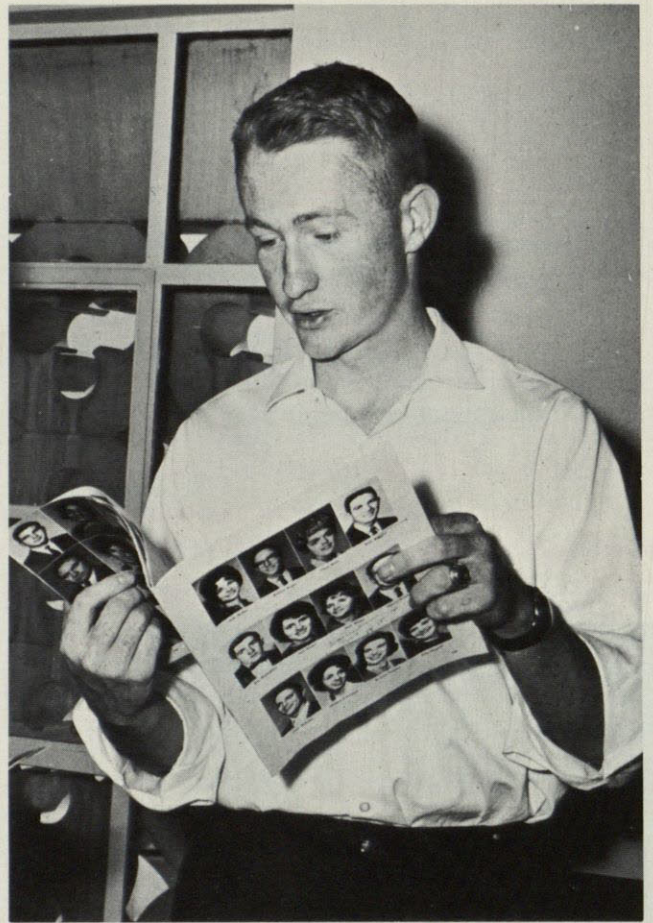

Bob Smith gets help from Beatrice Ramirez with the Chinese version of a shirt sleeve, as Esther Vinicoff supervises to make sure the job is done right.

Could Joey Schmitt REALLY be "The Music Man?"

STAFF SHOTS

Staff members like assistant editor Kit Detwiler and Nancy Ekdall always read the Flowsheet, the whole Flowsheet and nothing but the Flowsheet.

Carol Allen and Terry Ann Hill don't seem too sure these pictures are just what the editor ordered.

Staff photographer Ted Maciag doesn't trust that strange object taking his picture.

Maggie Wiswell is studying something very carefully, but daisies won't tell what it is.

Whatever the photographer is doing, Gail Huber and Thelma Levine seem to think it's funny, but Eileen Morgan has reserved judgement until she's sure.

Associate editors Bob Baker and Pennye Pinnell can't seem to get the right thing in the right place at the right time.

C'mon Bob, things can't be that bad! And is that editor Bill Coleman brooding over copy in the background?

Barbara Ritter is either concentrating very hard or is falling asleep.

Reporter Mike Ridley can't remember if it's I before E except after C or D.
